FEDERAL BORER CLEAN-UP SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Well Equipped Crews To Invade Marion County in Final Drive

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

United States Marshals To Accompany Workers To Prevent Interference

The corn borer clean-up campaign in Marion County is scheduled to get under way next week, when federal crews equipped with plows, oil-burners and other devices used in destroying or removing all remnants of last year's corn crop are expected to enter the county and make a complete sweep of the quarantine area.

United States marshals, instructed to prevent interference from farmers who are unfriendly to the corn borer eradication program, will accompany the clean-up force.

This schedule was disclosed today in an announcement coming from Foster Finkle, federal agent in charge of the corn borer work in Wyandot and Marion Counties. Finkle was in Toledo today to get final instructions from L. H. Worthley, federal administrator of the campaign in Ohio and five other states.

Work Delayed

The clean up drive in Marion County and other counties on the southern border of the corn borer quarantine area has been delayed because of unfavorable weather conditions, a 10-day extension of time having been allowed to enable the farmers to do the work themselves.

This extension is now at an end and the clean-up will now be done by federal authorities on all land where the owners failed to handle the situation.

The clean-up in Marion County will be thorough, Mr. Finkle stated yesterday. He declared that if the spread of the corn borer is to be checked, the border territory, in which this county is located, must be completely purged of the pest.

Quarantine Area

The southern border of the quarantine area now extends east and west through Marion County on almost a direct line passing through the city of Marion. No infestation has been discovered south of that line.

Should farmers opposed to having the federal men go on their land try to interfere, it is likely that arrests will result, officials predict. A number of affidavits were filed against land-owners while the clean-up campaign was in progress in counties north of here.

In Charge of Work

Director Finkle is now in full charge of the corn borer enforcement work in Wyandot and Marion Counties. Banks Collings, of Celina, who was sent here several weeks ago to handle the educational campaign preliminary to the actual clean-up drive, has no connection with the enforcement activities, he stated today.

Mr. Collings will remain here until about June 1, however, handling the duties of temporary farm agent and helping as an instructor in the corn borer work. He was sent here by the O. S. U. College of Agriculture.

BANDITS ATTACK PAY CAR ON NEW YORK STREETS

Working from Two Machines Seven Men Escape with $7,000 Loot

New York, May 11—Seven bandits attacked an armored pay car of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. on Seventy-Second-st near Avenue A today and escaped with 7,000 after an exchange of shots with the paymaster.

In one of the boldest raids by the underworld in recent months, the bandits worked from two automobiles, the first machine crashing into the armored car and knocking it to the curb.

The second automobile filled with bandits pulled up suddenly in front of the armored car and the robbers with drawn revolvers covered the crew of the pay car. They snatched the satchel containing the money, crowded into their machine and sped away up the avenue. The holdup was completed within a few minutes.

Members of the pay car crew fired several shots after the fleeing machine. The bandits returned the fire. It is believed that one of the bandits was wounded.

The automobile which collided with the pay car was abandoned by the bandits. The number of the machine in which the band escaped was given to police who sent out a general alarm. All hospitals were notified to be on the lookout for a wounded man.

LINDBERGH COMPLETES FLIGHT TO ST. LOUIS

First Time Non-Stop Trip Between San Diego and St. Louis Ever Made

St. Louis, May 11—Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, former air mail pilot, flying in his plane, the "Spirit of St. Louis," with which he hopes to hop across the Atlantic, arrived at 8:20 a. m. today at the Lambert Flying Field, on his non-stop flight from San Diego.

The non-stop trip from San Diego was made in 14 hours and 23 minutes. It was the first time such a trip between these two points had been negotiated.

Captain Lindbergh surprised officials at the Lambert-St. Louis field when he was sighted at 8 o'clock. The flyer went as far as the outskirts of the city and then flew back to the field, a distance of about 10 miles. He had not been expected to arrive until about 11 o'clock, as it was estimated the trip from the Pacific Coast would take approximately 17 hours.

Lindbergh said he had ideal conditions in the air—flying by the light of the moon during the first part of the trip last night and aided by a tail wind during the last few hours of the journey.

BATTLE AT HONAN MAY HOLD FATE OF HANKOW

Chin Yu Nao Holding Own Against Chang Tso Lin at Yangchow

Shanghai, May 11—A vital battle is proceeding in Honan, which may hold the fate of Hankow.

Chin Yu Nao, aided by General Feng Yuh Siang's troops, is holding his own in Yangchow against a determined assault from Chang Tso Lin's forces and the "redspears," Chinese irregulars and bandits.

Casualties are heavy and it is reported that the Hankow forces are losing 2,000 daily in dead and wounded.

Foreign observers declare that Chang Tso Lin's eventual capture of Hankow is inevitable, despite the aid which General Feng is giving.

Meanwhile General Chiang Kai Shek has launched a new offensive against the Shantung forces, precipitating heavy fighting to the north of Kiangsu. Kiukiang has already fallen into the hands of Chiang's armies.

The artillery battle between Chiang's forces in Nanking and the northerners in Pukow has been resumed, with a constant fire being maintained. The northerners are making frequent aerial raids upon Nanking, dropping bombs upon the city.

Reinforcements are being brought up in Nanking, where Chiang Kai Shek is making earnest efforts to form a government. The efforts of Chiang are being hampered somewhat by a lack of funds.

Paris, May 11—Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state in the administration of President Wilson, today declined to discuss the reasons for the divorce action which he has announced he will bring in Paris against his wife, the former Nathalie Sedgwick of Stockbridge, Mass.

Colby, it is understood, will merely charge desertion, which is sufficient grounds for divorce in the Paris courts. He has retained Charles G. Loeb as his attorney and has taken residence in Paris preliminary to filing a divorce application.

SENATORS VOTE TO RECESS IN PARTY CAUCUS

Republicans Formulate Plans for Dismissal Until May 31 for House's Approval

PROPOSE TRADE

Representatives Will Attempt To Ignore Vetoes for Gas Tax Increase

Columbus, May 11—Republican senators in caucus here today voted to recess until May 31 when sine die adjournment of the present legislature will be proposed, subject to approval by the house of representatives.

House Republicans, in caucus, this afternoon, it was stated, agreed to try to pass six measures over Governor Donahey's veto, provided the senate first passes the Sullivan Bill, providing for increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon, without the senate amendment which reduced the state license fee on pleasure autos 50 per cent.

These half-dozen measures are:

Measures in Group

The Lewis Budget Bill, authorizing the governor to order heads of state departments to keep expenditures within legislative appropriations; the Gillen-Burnett Bill, transferring control of the state schools for the deaf and the blind from the state welfare to the state department of education; the Tom Bill, authorizing abandonment, for canal purposes, of part of the Miami & Erie Canal in Lucas County; the Streicher Bill, providing for an additional common pleas judge in Lucas County; the Stone-Nickels Bill, authorizing the leasing of school lands for the sinking of gas wells, and the Ott Bill, increasing salaries of state supreme, appellate and common pleas court judges.

The house caucus, it was reported, also agreed to the proposal that the house elections committee report out the Chappelear-Herbert Elections Reform Bill, which already has passed the senate.

Urges Reconsideration

Legislators today had under consideration the recommendation of Governor Donahey that before they adjourn their present session, reconsider their action in passing the Marshall Bill, fixing compensation for village mayors, justices of the peace, constables, marshals and their deputies.

The governor's recommendation is contained in a message to the legislature in which Donahey announced that he had filed the Marshall Bill with the secretary of state without his approving signature.

System Pernicious

"I hope the general assembly, before it adjourns, will reconsider this matter and remove the fee stigma from the administration of justice in Ohio," Donahey told the legislators. "It will never have a better opportunity to remove the last vestige of this pernicious system, which no honest man can defend."

Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, Republican, who vigorously opposed enactment of the Marshall Bill, announced his intention of seeking to subject the measure to a state-wide referendum at the polls next November.

LOUIS MAZER WITNESS AGAINST STREITENBERGER

Testimony Shows Plot Hatched Following Ousting of Police Chief Lengel

Canton, May 11—Hopes of the state were apparently realized today, following testimony of Louis Mazer in the trial of Floyd Streitenberger, former city detective, charged with complicity in the murder of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, here last summer.

Mazer, indicted for first degree murder, in connection with the crime, but promised immunity for turning state's evidence, was the first witness to take the stand this morning. He testified that the plot which resulted in the murder of the newspaperman, was originally hatched immediately following the hearing for S. A. Lengel, ousted Canton chief of police, a year ago last March.

At that time, according to Mazer's testimony, Streitenberger told Mazer, who was present at the hearing, that "someone ought to run Mellett out of town, because he is causing Lengel too much trouble."

Mazer said he and Streitenberger were "good friends," and often met at Streitenberger's home, on the street and in Lengel's office. He admitted that he had hired Patrick McDermott, convicted gunman, now serving a life term for the murder, "to slug Mellett," indicating there was no plot to kill, and had agreed to pay McDermott $200 for the "job," but claims he did so at Streitenberger's suggestion.

WANTS U. S. GIVEN HELP IN ELECTION

Mexico City, May 11—Dr. Pedro Zepeda, Mexican representative of Juan Sacasa, leader of the Nicaraguan Liberals, today requested an interview with American Ambassador Sheffield to propose that the United States invite some Latin-American republic to share the responsibility of supervising the Nicaraguan general election next year.

One of the proposals made by Henry L. Stimson, President Coolidge's representative in Nicaragua, was that the United States supervise the Nicaraguan election in 1928.

At the United States embassy no information was forthcoming as to whether Dr. Zepeda would be received.

"Washington should embrace my suggestion without hesitation because it will mean the sharing of responsibility with a Latin-American nation, thus precluding any chance of criticism or post-election charges of partiality on the part of the supervisors," Dr. Zepeda told International News Service. "The United States could thus withdraw from a difficult situation with prestige increased rather than diminished and with the Liberals' gratitude instead of resentment.

Latin American sentiment will demand Nicaraguan acceptance of the election results achieved under such supervision as outlined. This senti-

MILITARY RULE HOLDS OVER TOWN; 79 ARE DEAD

Workers Continue Task of Searching for Bodies in Tornado Wreckage

Poplar Bluff, Mo., May 11—Military regulations ruled over the "tornado area," today as the well-organized armies of rescue workers methodically continued the task of searching for bodies in the ruins of Monday's twister.

The recovered dead totaled 79 today with the possibility several more victims would be found in the debris. The injured numbered more than 250 and about 10 of this number were so badly hurt they may die.

Mayor John W. Barryman and other officials who have been directing rescue work agreed that the death toll would reach 100 or more.

The rescue organization was running in perfect order. All able-bodied men, not employed, were asked by Mayor Berryman to join the rescue crews and they have responded willingly. To aid the volunteer workers in their task, the military regulations were being rigidly enforced today.

The area laid in waste by the storm was slowly being cleared of the debris, streets were reopened and the city was slowly getting back to normal conditions. An adequate supply of food is in the city and the task of preparing it is the only problem confronting relief workers.

Churches have opened dining rooms and cafes.

Gray Wants to Bid Former Sweetheart Last Farewell; Wife to Visit Him Friday

Convicted Slayer of Albert Snyder Sorry Widow Has Taken Verdict So Hard, He Declares; Mrs. Snyder's Condition Improving Rapidly

Long Island City, N. Y., May 11—Henry Judd Gray wants to see his former sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder—"just once, to say good-bye."

He made this plea to prison guards who had told him of the collapse of Mrs. Snyder in her cell.

"I'm sorry she has taken the verdict so hard," said Gray. "I didn't tell my story on the stand to make her suffer. I simply told the truth, and I feel better. I don't see why I can't see her just once again."

Prison officials said today that Gray may be given a chance to see Mrs. Snyder after they are sentenced next Monday by Justice Townsend Scudder to death in the electric chair for the murder of Albert Snyder. This opportunity will come just before they are driven in separate automobiles to Sing Sing immediately after sentence is pronounced.

Just Hysterical

Mrs. Snyder, who had been in a semi-hysterical condition since her conviction, was resting better this morning and hope was expressed that she will soon regain the poise she maintained throughout her trial. A special matron has been assigned to watch her, however, to see that she does not try to commit suicide

Physicians believe she is not now suffering from epilepsy but merely from a severe case of hysteria. They attributed her recurring attacks of hysteria to the reaction from the strain on her nerves during the trial.

Her chance of escaping the electric chair on a plea of insanity became more remote today as her condition improved. She will be carefully examined as to her mental condition next Tuesday after her arrival in the death-house in Sing Sing. Her recovery is expected to be constant from now on.

Fully Reconciled

Gray, meanwhile, is fully reconciled to his fate. He talks amiably, even volubly, to his guards as he paces his five-by-nine cell in Queens County Jail. He apparently is reveling in his approaching doom, clutching at it as a means of expiation of his crime.

He has received a letter of sympathy from his wife, Mrs. Isabelle Gray, who plans to visit him on Friday. She has not seen her husband since the Tuesday after the murder of Snyder, more than seven weeks ago.

OFFICIALS SURE STURDY PLANE NOT FLOATING

Two Possibilities Are Landing on Labrador Coast or Picked Up by Ship

AMERICANS READY

Tragic End of French Attempt Not To Halt Chamberlin and Bertaud

Washington, May 11—One chance in a thousand was the faint hope held out by navy department officials today for the safety of Captains Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli, missing trans-atlantic aviators.

Two possibilities were suggested—that they have reached a deserted spot on the Labrador coast, or that they were picked up in midocean by a steamer not equipped with wireless.

The sturdy plane is not floating in the mid Atlantic with the two fliers clinging to it. Of this navy department officials are convinced.

"It is hardly conceivable that their plane could now be afloat," said Edward P. Warner, assistant secretary of the navy for air.

"If a landing was made in a rough sea they may have been carried under the water almost instantaneously."

Chances Are Remote

The fact that most of the course of the fliers was north of the ship lanes brought forward the possibility that they may have reached land on this side of the Atlantic. If so they may not be heard from for weeks.

Despite the putting to sea of two naval vessels at Boston and the search undertaken by coast guard ships chances of finding bits of wreckage are said to be remote.

The aviators, it was pointed out by Warner, may have fallen at any place in an arc of more than million square miles. Therefore, it was indicated, the navy could not attempt to "blanket" the sea with searching vessels unless the French government should urgently request such action. Destroyers searched for Commander John Rodgers in the Pacific for several days, when they knew within 100 miles of where he fell on the Hawaiian flight, it was pointed out.

SEND EIGHT MORE DESTROYERS OUT

Washington, May 11—Eight additional destroyers of the coast guard rum fleet have been sent out from New England ports in search for Captains Nungesser and Coli, missing transatlantic fliers, it was announced at headquarters today.

The cutter Mojave, with an airplane aboard, is also out at sea.

U. S. WON'T TRY TO BLOCK CHAMBERLIN

Washington, May 11—The federal government will interpose no objections to the start of the transatlantic flight of the Bellanca plane this week, it was announced at the state department today anent Ambassador Herrick's message from Paris advising that the flight be postponed because of anti-American feeling in Paris.

The state department, it was said, considers it has gone as far as it can in the matter by merely publishing Herrick's warning.

"Presidential Spokesman's" Gone to Unmarked Grave

Variety of Reasons Sends Fictitious Press Character to Oblivion

WASHINGTON, May 11—The coroner ought to sit on the "presidential spokesman's" remainders.

He snuffed out too suddenly not to be suspicious.

If ever a case looked like picture wire, smelled like chloroform and sounded like a sash weight, it's the "presidential spokesman's."

HE was a most useful person, too. The press feels his loss keenly.

As all Washington correspondents know, the president himself mustn't be quoted.

He gives out news, but the papers mustn't say he said so.

It frequently happens that news isn't much good unless you tell where it comes from.

Suppose the country wants to hear what the president has to say about so-and-so? You ask him. He answers. How are you going to pass his answer on to a waiting world if you can't quote him?

Well, you can't. Or, if you do, it's his recognized privilege to elect you to his Ananias Club. You're "in bad" forever after also.

But you can quote the "presidential spokesman."

That is, you always could, during several generations of presidents, until very lately. Not now, however

AFTER many years' faithful service there began to be indications some time ago, that the "spokesman" was falling into disfavor at the White House.

For one thing, it was clear President Coolidge had a hunch the public no longer believed he had any "spokesman."

Then folks got to joshing about him which made him ridiculous

Next Bill Borah, as chairman of the senate foreign affairs committee, began giving out statements through a "spokesman" knocking the tar out of what was left of the "presidential spokesman's" prestige, almost completely

RIGHT on top of all these setbacks, the "presidential spokesman" committed the prize "faux pas" of his entire career.

In denying that Secretary of State Kellogg was about to resign, he made the perfectly awful mistake of adding that Secretary of Commerce Hoover wouldn't get Kellogg's job, even if Kellogg did quit.

There's the best reason in the world for believing, as the president hastily explained, that the "spokesman" simply meant Hoover was too valuable a secretary of commerce to be transferred to any other department.

Nevertheless, there was no escaping the fact that the "spokesman's" utterance was susceptible to a different interpretation

IT certainly was so interpreted—that is to say, differently from the way the president says his "spokesman" meant it—in embarrassingly numerous quarters

The row about it was very considerable. Hoover may have understood it all right, but a lot of his friends didn't.

Shortly afterward word was passed out from the temporary White House to the correspondents that the "presidential spokesman" is no more—he's dead, embalmed, buried and gone. It was strongly intimated the president [illegible], to a warmer climate than even Washington in summer.

Henceforth quotations are TABOO—from almost anybody.

WITH a motive for foul play so strongly indicated, surely this is a case for investigation. And yet what's a coroner to do about it without a "corpus delicti."

Washington's farewell address and Lincoln's Gettysburg speech are quoted more frequently than any other presidential utterances.

RED CROSS AID IS EXTENDED TO STORM REGIONS

Flood and Wind-Swept Sections To Be Helped Through Single Organization

Baton Rouge, La., May 11—The sustaining arms of the American Red Cross steeled by a four weeks' hand-to-hand struggle with the devastating Mississippi floods, were extended today to the wind swept regions of five states spread from Illinois to Texas

Under plans suggested by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and approved by Red Cross field officers, the two vast areas of death and suffering will be administered through a single relief organization. The existing food relief machinery will be expanded to care for the new hundreds awaiting succor from tornadoes in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Texas.

While the new tornado relief machinery centered at Memphis was getting under way, flood rescue forces in west central Louisiana redoubled their efforts today to curb the disaster in the seven threatened parishes south of the Bayou Des Glaises levee, which is rapidly crumbling under the Arkansas overflow piling up in the brimful cup holding the waters of more than 4,000,000 acres of land between the bayou and the gulf.

Water Topped 48 Hours

The bayou dikes have been water topped for 48 hours. Warnings that a break appeared inevitable have been posted throughout the threatened parishes for a week. Thousands of muscle-sore levee defenders are battling along some 50 miles of wave washed wall in a last heroic stand against the inexorable sea still swelling over thousands of square miles in northeastern Louisiana.

Walking in mud and seepage knee deep in spots, these desperate thousands labor like automatons 24 hours a day in their losing fight to build up the bayou walls faster than the angry, windswept waters pile up disaster against the opposite side of the dike

Equipment Augmented

Because of the stubborn refusal of thousands in the threatened area to heed the evacuation warnings, rescue equipment in the Red and Old rivers has been augmented against the anticipated crevasse in the bayou levees. Six huge barges were hauled up from New Orleans today under emergency orders to stand by with the armada of coast guard vessels, side-wheel packet barges, tankers, and tugs scattered along the two rivers.

Former Gov. John M Parker in charge of the state relief machinery, believes everything possible has been done to prevent loss of life when the break comes possibly within 48 hours. But as to property loss he gazes intently, almost fiercely at the colored pins on the huge wall map and says earnestly "we're fighting wherever we can set foot. At some spots the levees are too soft to sustain the men but we're fighting till the jig is up."

T NOTICES MAILED TO INQUENTS

batch of notices for collec- quent personal taxes in nty were mailed out yester- Randles of Columbus, who andle the collection under h the county commission- ork will continue until all uencies, totalling approx- 000, are cleaned up. It is the undertaking will not for several months.

notices are being sent to the rural districts and vil- e the city of Marion. A compiled by Mr. Randles assistants shows that persons charged with de- the outside territory. In Marion the delinquents total lles, who has established ters in the rear room of recorder's office, stated today that he will allow the delinquents all of the time and every opportunity possible to settle before court action is taken.

Anticipates Success

His experience in other Ohio counties where he handled similar collections during the last few years has shown that all but a small percentage pay up before it becomes necessary to file suit, Mr. Randles says.

Under the terms of his contract, he is to pay all expenses and will receive a commission on the amount of delinquencies collected. Mr. Randles, formerly a settlement clerk in the state auditor's office, is the only person in Ohio operating a delinquent tax collection agency.

The delinquencies date back as far as 1907. Some of the persons whose names are included in the list have died and others who have moved out of the county can not be traced to their present addresses. This means that a part of the accounts are uncollectible. Mr. Randles is of the opinion, however, that a substantial percentage of the $40,000 delinquencies will be rounded up.

DEATHS EXCEED BIRTHS IN CITY DURING APRIL

Local Registrar's Report Lists 48 Fatalities; 43 Babies Arrive

Deaths in Marion during April exceeded births by five, according to a report issued today by Miss Esther Dickason, local registrar. During the month 25 boys and 18 girls were born while 48 deaths are recorded.

Heart disease with 10 victims, leads in the causes of deaths while pneumonia follows second with seven deaths. There were four deaths from accidents and four from cerebral hemorrhage while there were two deaths each from uremia, blood poisoning, goitre and cancer. There was one death each from anemia, tuberculosis, diabetes and Addison's Disease.

More deaths than births is not a common occurrance, according to health department officials having occured only a few times in the last several years.

OPIUM WORTH $100,000 IS SEIZED IN BOSTON

Boston, May 11—Opium valued at $100,000 was seized and three Chinese were arrested yesterday when an attempt was made to unload the drug from the Far East steamship Malayan Prince.

The Chinese, it was learned, attempted to bribe federal officials to allow the landing of the opium.

BEES FORCE MAN TO GIVE UP BED

Cleveland, May 11—Ben Newman of East Cleveland has decided to stay away from his bedroom for a few nights. A swarm of bees, which moved in and took possession of the bedroom, refuse to leave, even under strong urging by the suburban police force. An expert on bees who was called, said the honey-makers would leave "as soon as they swarm"—"within a few days."

In the meantime, Ben will sleep on a davenport in another room.

DENY FREIGHT RATE INCREASE PETITION

Columbus, May 11—Increased freight rates on intrastate shipments of pig iron, sought by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., have been refused by the state utilities commission it was announced here today. The ruling will affect industries at Cleveland, Toledo, Dover, Youngstown, Mansfield, Canton and Akron and smaller communities.

New York City today has nearly twice as many inhabitants as had the entire United States when the first census was taken, in 1790.

SIX CASES SET FOR HEARINGS IN LOCAL COURT

First Assignment for May Term Is Posted by Bailiff J. M. Davidson

Six cases have been set for hearing before Judge Scofield of the Marion County Common Pleas Court on Thursday and Friday of this week. This assignment, the first for the May term of court, which began Monday, was posted yesterday by Bailiff J. M. Davidson.

The assignment follows:

Thursday, May 12—C., D. & M. Electric Co. against George Schlessinger, state director of public highways, an injunction proceeding; State of Ohio on behalf of L. L. Aller against W. C. Wooley and others a suit to determine distribution of payment for a road contract. Payment of approximately $4,500 is held up pending decision of this case.

Friday, May 13—Harry D. Diller against Myrtle B. Diller, divorce; Myrtle W. Mason against Aaron I. Mason, divorce; Mildred Manley against Peter Manley, divorce; Nellie Barnette against Morrison Barnette, divorce.

Cases Reduced

As a result of special efforts put forth by Judge Scofield to dispose of pending litigation since he took office last December, the number of divorce cases on file has been considerably reduced, only 36 appearing on the docket just completed for the May term. This includes both alimony and divorce suits. Suits involving other classes of litigation have also been decreased in number, however, so that the divorce cases constitute almost a fifth of the docket.

COUNTY GETS $2,091.65 INTEREST ON DEPOSITS

Payments for April Made by 10 Banks Designated as Depositories

Marion County received $2,091.65 for interest on its funds on deposit in various banks of the county during April, the payments coming from 10 banks which are designated as depositories.

This was probably the largest April interest total in the history of the county due to the fact that a large part of the tax collection funds were not paid out until toward the close of the month.

Odinarily the distribution is made on March 1. This year the country real estate apraisal held up the tax settlement several weeks.

The banks pay interest at rates ranging from 2.25 per cent to 4.90 per cent on average daily balances. The 2.25 per cent is paid by the active depositories and the higher rates on inactive accounts.

Not in the hope that they may be observed, but simply to keep the count straight, it may be said that the various legislatures of the forty-eight states have already passed this year 13,000 and some odd laws. As a matter of fact, some of them are decidedly odd, but we did not mean it that way, of course, in the foregoing statement.

Had the prevailing styles been other than what they are, that court, told by a woman in an alimony proceeding that she needed seventeen pairs of silk stockings every ten days, might have assumed that she was a sort of a centipede.

While Henry A. Wise Wood may not always have been so wise in his expressed views as he would have us believe, there can be little question of the wisdom of his observations expressed to President Coolidge in which he denounced the "old League of Nations crowd," French politicians and the "red ribbon-seeking Americans," who go to France in search of decorations and social preferment, upon whom, it is apparent, this country is at last pretty well fed up.

Dog Warden Bill Vetoed.

Governor Donahey is hardly to be congratulated upon his vetoing of the "dog warden" act, it was so obviously the only course he could follow and protect the people of the state whose best interests he is legally committed to further. The act was easily the most bare-faced job-creating measure which has been given legislative sanction in years.

Under the bill, what amounted to a dog bureau would have been created, with deputy "dog wardens" in the eighty-eight counties of the state whose duty it would have been to patrol their respective counties and seize and impound all dogs on sight to enforce the provision of the measure for the passing of a transfer-of-ownership certificate, very much like the bills of sale employed in transferring the ownership of automobiles, every time there was a change in the ownership of a dog.

There is no more reason why the transfer of the ownership of a dog should necessitate such a certificate than would the transfer of a sheep or a goat, a peck of apples or a pound of nails. It may be urged by the author of the measure that it would assist in the collection of the dog tax. The best answer to that is that if the right kind of auditors are elected, there is no call for "dog warden" assistants in the collection of the dog tax. Our own county auditor, Earl Thomas, has demonstrated that.

No, the measure, look upon it as kindly as we may, was simply one to create more jobs, to add to the army of snoopers we already have serving at public expense.

Despair Grips All France.

It is easy to understand how "gloom cloaked Paris," Monday night, when news of the safe arrival of the "White Bird" and her famous aces, Captain Charles Nungesser and Captain Francois Coli, on this side of the Atlantic was not forthcoming. It is not at all difficult to comprehend how despair over the probable fate of her airmen grips the heart of all France today. We can appreciate the feeling of the French in great degree by that we experience over here as the possibility of their rescue alive grows dimmer and the probability of their loss at sea grows stronger.

Naturally, we here in America would be interested in the fate of any aviators attempting a flight across the Atlantic, and the probability of their loss would move us strongly, but hardly to the extent to which we are moved today. It may be that the reckless daring of the two French aces attracted us to them. Certainly it could not have been their judgment, for they disregarded practically every safeguard which airmen customarily take in attempting anything even remotely like the feat they essayed. There was no sea patrol along the course they planned to follow. So far as we have been able to glean, they did not even divulge the course they planned to take. They did not equip their machine with a rubber raft such as Byrd had tested out. They discarded their wireless equipment owing to its weight. They were provisioned for but a few days and their gasolene supply was just a trifle beyond the quantity to carry them the two days they expected to be in the air. No reserve supply to meet a possible extra consumption of gas caused by the need of buffeting storms or unfriendly winds was aboard. They simply got ready and "hopped off," and that, too, in the face of warnings of unfavorable weather conditions on this side of the ocean.

Possibly the high interest felt in their attempted flight and the deep regret manifested in contemplation of the probable disaster which has overtaken them is due to their unusual record for bravery and daring.

Coli lost an eye and was thrice otherwise wounded in the air service of France in the World war, which he entered after having been twice severely wounded while serving in the French infantry and declared unfit for further service.

Nungesser, the intrepid French ace who was known to the enemy as the "Hussar of Death," brought down forty-seven enemy planes during the great conflict. He was wounded seventeen times and became known as the "Aluminum Man," so-called because, as a result of his many wounds, he went about with an aluminum plate on the top of his head, wore four aluminum patches on both legs, wore patches of aluminum on both elbow joints and had an aluminum right ankle. In recognition of his bravery he received the Meddaile Militaire, the Croix de Guerre with twenty-eight palms and two stars, the British military cross, the Order of the Crown of Leopold, the Belgian Croix de Guerre, the American Distinguished Service medal and Serbian and Portuguese decorations.

Little wonder that the heartstrings of the French are rended by the probable loss of two such men as these! Little wonder that the whole world is moved by the probability that their attempted exploit has ended in disaster! Little wonder that "despair grips the heart of all France," at this probable loss which comes so closely upon the heels of the probable loss of Captain St. Roman and his companion in their attempted flight from Africa to Brazil.

The Columbus Dispatch intimates that the garbage disposal plant down there leaves operating expenses out of the count when it wants to make a good showing. Why not? Isn't that the plan usually followed by all municipally-conducted enterprises?

The Canton News remarks that "Tom Taggart has doubtless figured that Mr. Woollen, his Indiana presidential candidate, can draw the sheep vote and win in a walk." Maybe so, but our idea is that Tom is far too wise to expect to do much with the sheep vote in a nation-wide electorate made up largely of goats.

Some of the pictures in Tuesday's papers showed Captain Coli with a patch over his right eye while others showed the patch over his left, manifestly the change being due to the reversing of the film in making some of the halftones. Isn't this carrying artistic license a trifle too far?

England, France and Italy naturally maintain a discreet silence regarding Uncle Sam's proposal to abandon the $10 visa charge which he inaugurated at the close of the war by which they realize millions of dollars where he gets thousands. As a means of raising revenue, it is easily the most stupid measure this country ever adopted.

When arrested in New York City on a bigamy charge for having married four gobs and another young man without being separated from any of them either by death or by law, eighty-nine-pound Dolores Marpelli remarked to the officer apprehending her "Well, ladies must live." It looks as though Dolores has been overdoing this equality-of-the-sexes stuff a bit.

After a psychological examination of 3,000 school children up there, an Akron professor says the city children of the country "literally are drying up for lack of expressional life." He might change his mind should he lurk around while a bunch of them are enjoying their games on the streets in the night season.

Vagrant Verse.

THIS SUBTLE BREATH.

What is this thing in us we call the mind
Where is the chamber of intelligence
Whence issue feeling, thought, and thence,
Moving on myriad slender strands, may find
Perchance, a printed page, and so can bind
Together this and that, and grasp the sense
Of the joined words, and, for their excellence,
Greater or lesser, judge them of their kind?

So intimate, so part of our own selves
This thing, yet hidden so we may not see
Its living flame, nor follow when it delves
Deep in the silence and the mystery
Of consciousness, this subtle, chambered breath
That comes at birth, grows, disappears in death.

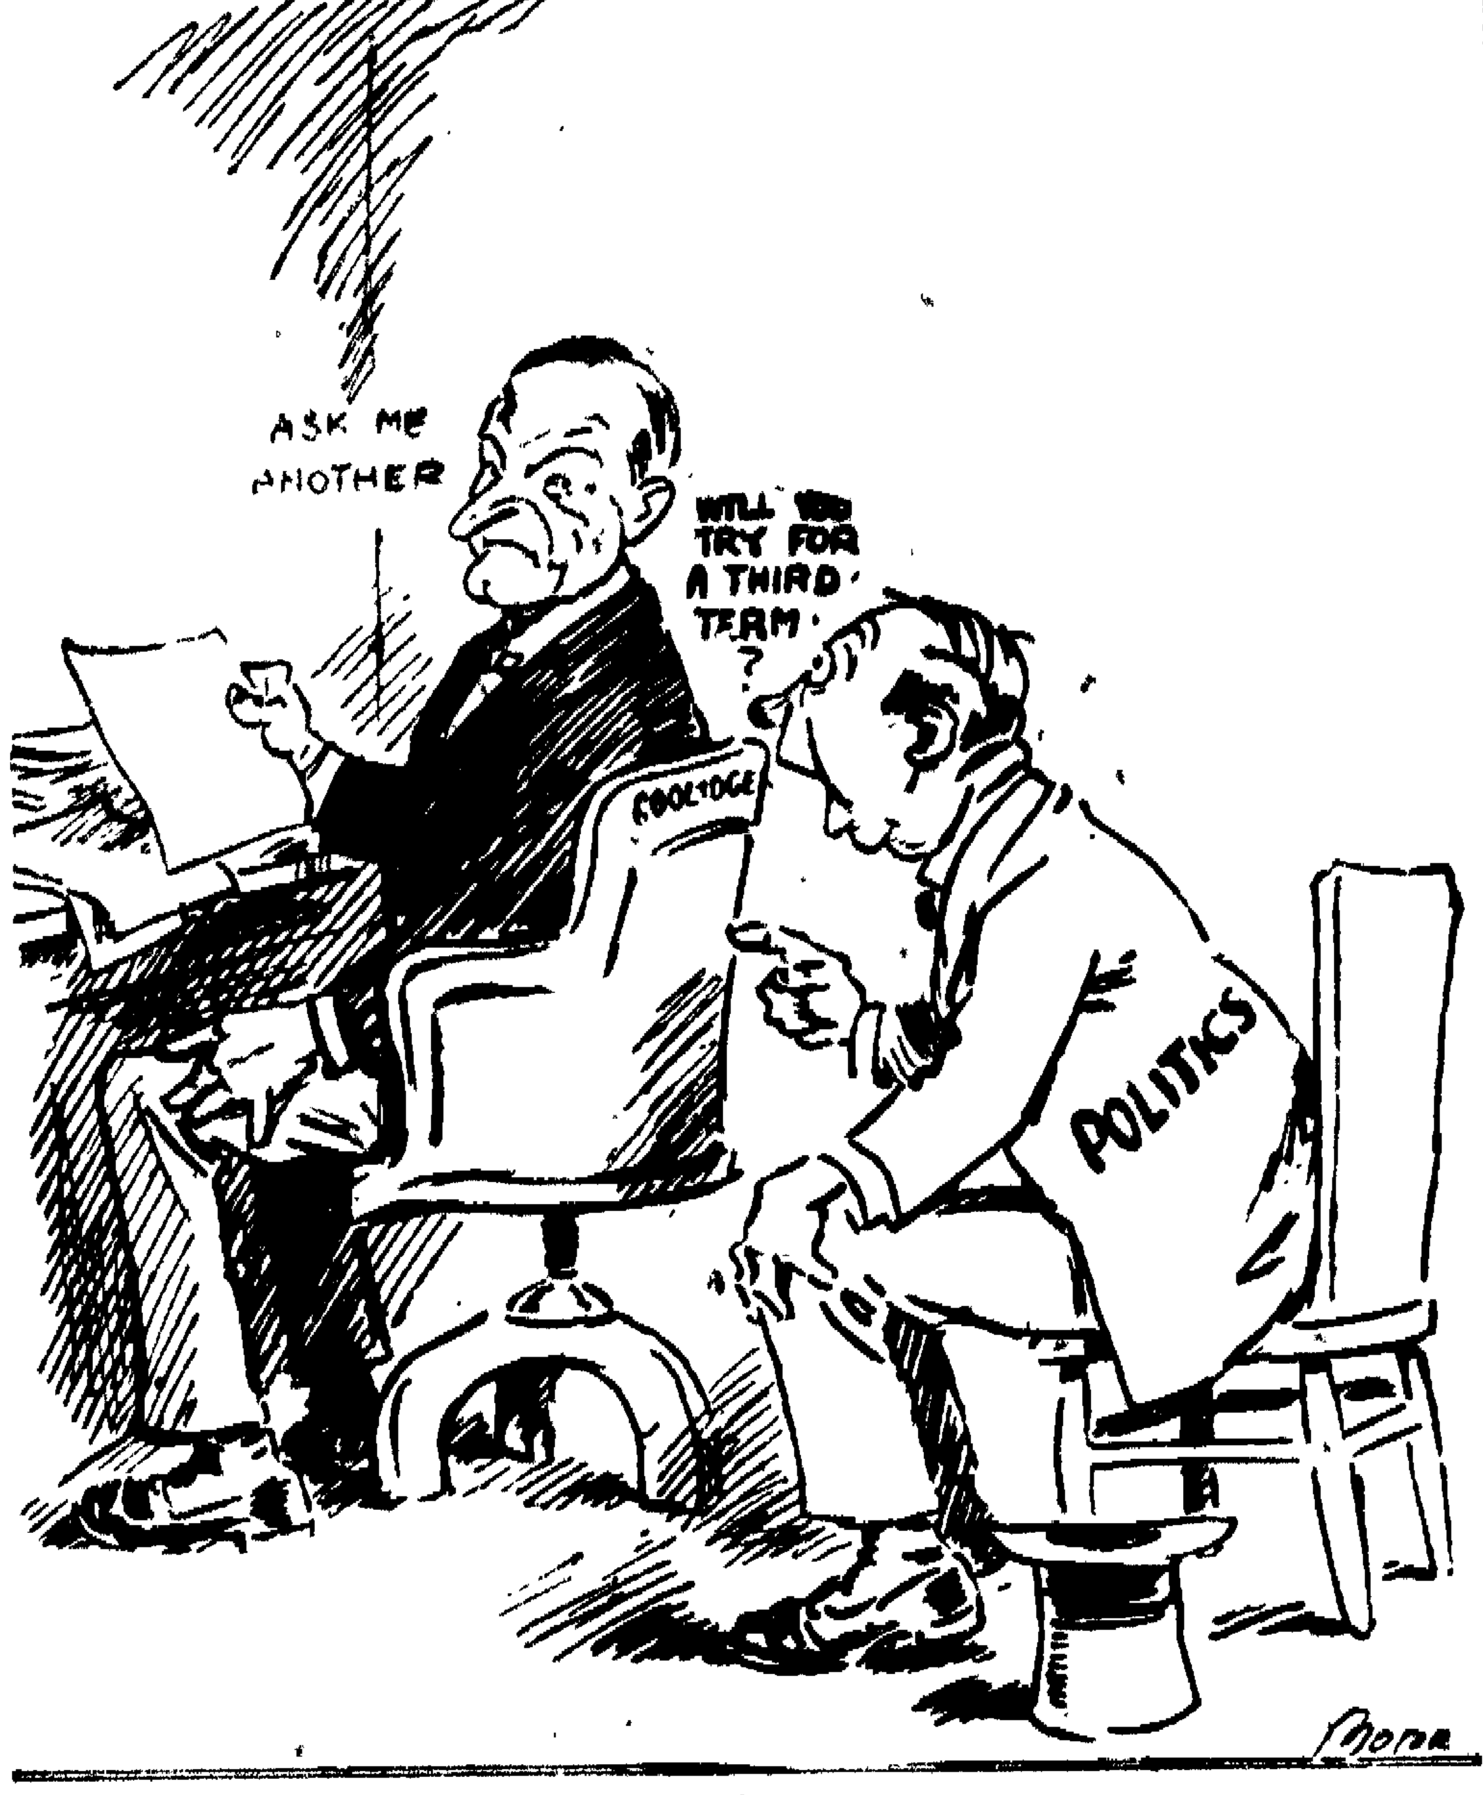
THAT QUESTION CRAZE.



Bodily Care Wards Off Disease.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

What you are depends on your habits. They control your emotions, your character, your energy, your usefulness. They determine the degree of your popularity.

Early training is responsible for most of the habits which boost or destroy us. If you do your duty by your child you will begin this training in earliest infancy.

Let me speak in the plainest possible way about some habits which have a bearing upon your own health and those who live or associate with you.

In the morning the body must be thoroughly cleansed. This may be done by a shower, by a dip in the tub, or by sponging. Perhaps you won't take a general bath every single morning, but this should be the practice at least twice a week.

In the morning, whether there is a general bath or not, there will be generous washing of the hands and face in the wash-bowl. First, you will wash the hands with soap and water, using a nailbrush if need be to get them thoroughly clean. This water is thrown away and clean water is used for the face and neck.

After finishing the toilet, wash the soap. It isn't proper to leave a dirty, suds-covered cake of soap for the next member of the family to use.

Now, you will clean the teeth and in doing so you won't expectorate into the wash-bowl or kitchen sink. It isn't decent to do this.

The way you clean your teeth and leave the cake of soap, will show how well brought up you are and how considerate of other people's sensibilities. But it isn't alone to spare their feelings that you are careful about these matters. It is because contaminated soap or a germ-infected washbowl or sink, may carry a cold or other catarrhal condition to somebody else. A mouth infection or skin trouble may be passed on to one near and dear to you, if you are not careful.

The feet should be washed with soap and water every single day. Nothing can be more offensive to the senses than neglected feet. The face, hands and teeth should be washed thoroughly before going to bed.

You will never eat a meal without washing your hands first. Soiled fingers are capable of carrying disease.

Never forget the bowel movement which should occur after breakfast. Constipation is one of the most common of human ailments. In many instances, it is due to neglect and the failure to form the habit of regularity.

Not to keep the rectal region clean is cause for itching, soreness and bleeding from those parts. Gentle washing with soap and water, using a soft cloth and no roughness, will do much to prevent trouble of this embarrassing nature.

These are a few suggestions on delicate subjects which, if followed, will help to form good, health-promoting habits.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

H. C. Q—What is meant by auto-intoxication and how can it be overcome?

2—What foods should be eliminated for indigestion and what causes pains in the abdomen after eating and drinking?

A—This is a condition where the waste material remains in the body and is absorbed into the system instead of passing out in the natural manner. This causes infection and is called auto-intoxication.

2—Simple foods avoiding fats, excessive sweets, etc. The pains are due to poor digestion and fermentation. Careful dieting and regular elimination should bring about improvement. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1927.

SACCO AND VANZETTI.

Over seven years have elapsed since the perpetration of the holdup and murder in South Braintree, Massachusetts, for alleged participation in which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti have been condemned to die. Nearly six years have elapsed since their conviction. The fact that they are still alive is eloquent testimony to the pertinacity with which their friends and sympathizers have fought to save them. It also suggests that some real doubt must exist as to their guilt.

Sacco and Vanzetti are radicals of the most vivid hue. They are unquestionably undesirable residents of a country in which means are provided by law for the pacific and orderly rectification of wrongs. That, however, is not sufficient justification for exterminating them. Even the fact that they have been found guilty of a capital crime in full accord with the processes of the law does not quite clear the national conscience. Something more is required; to-wit, a conviction that the law under which they have been condemned is just and equable.

The justice of Massachusetts law has been challenged in this case. Under this law the discretion rests with the trial judge to decide whether a convicted defendant shall have the opportunity to present newly-discovered evidence before another jury. There is an appeal to a higher court; but it is not an appeal from the discretion of the trial judge. The higher court concerns itself only with the question whether the trial judge committed any legal errors. If he observed all the technicalities his own review of his own decision stands.

The testimony in the case of Sacco and Vanzetti was conflicting. In the minds of those who were able to disabuse themselves of the prejudices excited by the defendants' seditious political views by the obnoxious tactics of their radical sympathizers their guilt was not clearly established even before an alleged participant in the crime of which they were convicted confessed to his part in it and asserted the innocence of Sacco and Vanzetti. In other parts of the union the credibility of this confession would in all probability have been weighed by a jury. In Massachusetts it was weighed only by a judge who might conceivably be reluctant to have been proved to be in the wrong. This fact is what sticks in the craw of entirely disinterested observers.

If Sacco and Vanzetti are guilty they ought to be executed. If they are innocent—if the slightest reasonable doubt as to their innocense exists—popular disapproval of their views and their connections ought not to influence the disposition of their case. In all the circumstances the appeal to the governor of Massachusetts to select a committee of capable and impartial citizens to inquire into the merits of the case, that he may be guided by their opinion in the exercise of his discretion to intervene, seems reasonable. This is the view of a rabble of cranks; but even a crank may occasionally be right. Let us have justice.—Philadelphia Record.

HOW MUCH IS A TEMPTATION?

In the federal supreme court's decision declaring unconstitutional the Ohio rural liquor court system the principle was laid down that the accused is denied due process of law when the judicial officer trying him may profit financially from the proceedings. In Chief Justice Taft's opinion he said that the principle applies in cases where the judicial officer's possible profit is large enough to constitute a temptation or an incentive to the ordinary man.

Now one of the Franklin county justices of the peace has announced that he does not regard the principle laid down by the court as applicable to cases involving violations of the fish and game laws and that he will continue to hear and decide such cases. In this position he seems to have the backing of Attorney General Turner, who has held, on the theory advanced by Chief Justice Taft, that the fees obtained by justices in fish and game cases are so small that they do not disqualify these officials from deciding such cases.

In one recent instance a deputy game warden arrested a group of fishermen and took them before a justice. In this case, according to the justice's statement, his fee for trying the fishermen, who he says numbered five, was $28.50, and the arresting officer's is said to have been $140. These amounts, it seems, are sufficient to tempt deputies to make arrests and justices to hear cases and impose penalties. The whole system under which constables' compensation depends on the number of arrests made and justices' on the number of cases heard and decided is, it seems to us, unjust and morally wrong. It provides an incentive to make arrests and to find verdicts which may often deny the accused due process of law, even if the fees involved are small. Some justices and some constables tempt easily.—Ohio State Journal.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

California marathon dancers, accompanied by music on motor trucks, danced fifteen miles through the streets. Dancing was continued in a hall. After twenty-one hours it was stopped by the police. History tells us that in the Middle Ages there was a dance craze in Europe. Thousands danced in the streets. The less excitable stood at the roadsides and said the world was going to the dogs. Are we going on—or just around and around?

A Nebraskan has invented a tractor controlled by an electric device which plows without a driver. The farmer can sit under a tree and watch his field being plowed. Labor-saving machinery may be carried to the point where life is mostly leisure. That's dangerous. How many of us know what to do when we haven't anything to do?

Congress has held that radio broadcasters shall not be subjected to government censorship as to the material which they send out. Right and proper. Leave it to the listeners to do the censoring. We want no kind of censorship in this country except the judgment of public opinion. Leave it to listeners and leave it to readers. They will do plenty.

Pity the rich who have to keep detectives hidden behind trees while their children play. The poor fear no kidnapers. Life has its compensations. Be pretty sure that if you didn't have the trouble you have, you would have some other kind—probably worse.

Look to the chemists to bring international peace. By inventing processes which will produce raw materials artificially they may soften the struggle of nations for the possession of the great natural resources of the world. When we no longer depend on the earth to produce all the oils, minerals, wood and food, we shall have far less to fight about.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, May 11—Second avenue of more colorful little cafes than almost any oth section of Manhattan. There are those fea ing favorite dishes of Armenia, Turkey, R mania, Sweden and, of course, a large nu ber of Kosher restaurants.

There is singular informality not found o Broadway or side streets. The proprieto join guests at tables to suggest choice food Dogs frolic around the floor and cats fluff the backs and plume their tails in friendliness.

Ancient patriarchs in skull caps sit in shadowy corners, puffing cigarets in silenc Flapper news girls—potential Fannie Brices— drift in with the latest editions of Yiddish and American newspapers. In one there is a blin pianist who smokes cigars.

Children are not always welcomed and many of the menus carry the line, "Children service —twenty cents extra." All feature music of a better sort. There is Joseph Moskowitz, who plays the cymbalon in one and gives occasional high-brow recitals uptown.

There is no hurry or jazz. When Second avenue dines out it is an all-evening event. They eat leisurely and remain until midnight to listen to the music, sing folk songs and ex- change gossip. Some play dominoes, cubits or chuck dice.

A bottle of seltzer is at each table and napkins are starched and standing. Horse-radish is dyed red. And great plates of ap-petizers with a mixture of kraut, huge red peppers, chopped onions, pickled fish and such are free or five cents an order.

Celery beer is a favorite beverage of Second avenue. Some cafes sell mild wines, but neve cocktails or whisky. Such dishes as frigarey on the stick, musht, captashala, bortsch, broiled peppers, stuffed fish, smoked goose and herring are popular.

Sidewalks in front of radio shops and gramophone stores on Second avenue are al-ways crowded if there is a free concert. Old men and shawled, wigged women bring their camp stools and perch along the curbs.

Jutting off Second avenue are many old-fashioned boarding-houses with basement din-ing-rooms, papered in cheerful red. Boarders dine at long tables under gaudy chandeliers and afterward gather in front parlors with fern-trimmed windows, to discuss happenings of the day.

The Yiddish Art theater, crisscrossed with flamboyant posters, has a waiting line usually at dusk. Stage heroes and heroines are taken very seriously and most of the crowd is there for a peep at them. If one is sighted the cheer-ing and applauding can be heard blocks away. Old favorites are never forgotten.

There is a story of a woman of wealth going to a jaded straw blonde who had enamored her husband and asking her to clear out of the country in exchange for a $100,000 check.

"But he loves me," countered the blonde.

"Do you value his love at $100,000?"

There was a thoughtful silence and then "Gimme the check, lady, you win." And that ended another Broadway love.

Love seems to curl up quickly in Manhattan. Recently a married couple gave an elaborate and sumptuous dinner at one of the smartest restaurants. Two mornings later the wife read one of those "I will not be responsible for debts contracted by my wife" notices in the paper.

"What happened?" telephoned a friend.

"He met a new charmer at our party" wa the laconic reply. "She's in—I'm out."—Copyright, 1927.

He studied law an began his practice at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, i 1885, later moving to Kansas City, Missouri where he became identified with local and state Democratic politics. He became prosecuti attorney for Jackson county, Missouri, secu ing 285 convictions out of a total of 287 tri during his term of office. Later he becam mayor of Kansas City, and in 1911, a memb of the United States senate. He was defe attorney for Henry Ford in the Ford-Sapi million dollar libel suit at Detroit. He is a advocate of the reservoir system for the co trol of the waters of the Missouri and th Mississippi, expressing himself thus:

"To care for this Mississippi situation, th flood waters should be impounded in reservoirs held back by dams and through other enginee ing methods restrained so the waters woul not all reach the Mississippi at the same tim

"What I have said is of particular and p cullar interest to Missouri. If such a proje were carried out the entire Mississippi rive and the Missouri, from its mouth to a point a least above Omaha, could not only be mad navigable, but navigable under splendid con ditions.

"In view of the frightful disaster t southern states congress ought to make libera appropriations to the relief of the victims o the flooded area.

"It should be borne in mind that this presen disaster does not at all measure the damag which constantly hangs over the great Valley states. If there had been a heavier rainfall over a wider area, who could say the city of New Orleans, which lies below the flood sur face, might not have been wiped out?

"Surely we should not wait for a still greater disaster before meeting this problem in a sensible and businesslike way."

Dinner Stories.

He came home late for supper. He was professor of chemistry and she was a wife wh tried to have a good supper for him every night. Women's Hygienic Advice

New way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THERE is now a way in woman's hygiene that ends most of the bothers and worries of old ways. A new way called Kotex. 8 in 10 better class women have adopted it.

✓ You dispose of it as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry or disposal problem.

You wear lightest, filmiest gowns in safety and without fear. For Kotex protects absolutely under all conditions. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

You obtain it at any store, without hesitancy, simply by saying Kotex. Many stores have it already wrapped for you to pick up, pay for, and take home without even asking.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Once you try it, you'll never risk the dangers of old ways again. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Lovely Hair in a Few Minutes

Hair too often is left to look like nothing more than hair. And when it is just that, it can not attract attention to you. Nothing causes people to lose their desire to be near you like carelessness, and one of the first things we all become careless about is our hair, because shampooing is so much trouble

Hair must be kept clean, always. If you neglect it, the dandruff and film of oil which attaches itself to each strand steals away the most precious and fascinating charm you have—beautiful hair. Shampooing is only a beginning, because it does not clean thoroughly. Put a few dashes of Danderine on your brush the next time you fix your hair and draw it through with long, even strokes clear to the scalp, so each strand will become alive and glowing.

That is the quickest and easiest way to keep it as fresh as the morning dew, because the minute Danderine touches the oily film on your hair it leaves instantly. The result is marvelously soft, silken like, abundant locks. It will not be dried out, or greasy either.

And Danderine is so inexpensive, too. The 35c bottle will last you a long time. It makes the convenience of bobbed hair even more pleasing because it helps to keep in your waves. You will never be without it

Is It Your Nerves?

Conneaut, Ohio—"Through overwork and exposure I had a general break down in health. My nerves were all upset, I had no appetite, lost weight, grew very thin and pale and got so weak that for some time I was not able to do anything, I was so miserable. Upon the advice of a friend I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and builder, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' to regulate my bowels, and I was soon well and strong, my nerves were restored, I could eat, gained in weight and was once more enjoying perfect health, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicines."—Mrs. Chas. hell-shocked at Sedan and dead. Much later he is in a New York hospital, parents find him with his speech and memory gone. He is like a living dead man.

The day before he is to be taken home he wanders away from his nurse. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital with his skull fractured, expected to die. He had been hit by a truck.

The twins, meanwhile, had been identified as the nieces of the wealthy JOHN CLAYTON of Indianapolis. Their father is dead.

Mollie writes, saying Jim will live but his memory is gone forever, and they are to bring him home shortly.

When the Elwells arrive, there is a scene and suddenly one of the grief-stricken twins cries that she is Jim's wife. Jim then speaks, and begins to tell a strange story.

Now Begin the Story

CHAPTER XLVII

"YOU see," Jim Elwell went on, "when I did wake up, it looked like I'd be just the same as I was before—if I lived. But it didn't look like a sure thing that I would live.

"In addition to my noodle being all tangled up, there was a piece of bone pressing on my think tank from the fracture. That had to be removed, or else I'd croak as sure as shootin'.

"Of course, they knew that even if they did remove it my chances were still pretty slim. But one thing was sure: if they didn't, I was a goner.

"Of course, Prof didn't want me to die so he told them to go ahead and do their best. And then they called in this Dr. Lawson, didn't they, Prof?"

That was right, Prof said. He began carefully to fill his pipe.

"Well, when Dr. Lawson got there they were operatin' and they had removed the bone that was doing all the pressing. But when he arrived on the scene they were so impressed with his greatness and all that they didn't stop for lunch, and under his direction they kept foolin' around until they had removed a blood clot or something or other.

"Now, it seems that that clot there was what had kept me from doing any thinking, so when they got it out of the way they straightened out my brain for me."

"Oh, how wonderful!" Betty breathed.

"Exactly," he agreed. "That did the trick. It seems that this Dr. Lawson thought all along that that was what might be the matter with me, but he didn't want to operate without Prof and Mollie's consent because he wasn't sure that I'd come out of it.

"And now here's a funny little side to it that even Prof and Mollie don't know. I'm tellin' them now for the first time. Nellie Downing—that was my nurse, Betty, the lady that looked after me over in France and followed me to the United States and—"

"I know all about her," Betty said primly.

"Oh, you do?" Well, he went on to say, Nellie Downing had told him that Dr. Lawson had confessed to taking a big chance when he removed the blood clot.

"It seems that when they removed the bone, I was still so far gone that it was a toss-up with me anyway, so Dr Lawson had the nerve to go ahead and see the whole thing through—figuring, of course, that inasmuch as I was so close to death anyhow he might just as well do the thing he hadn't dared to do before an operation was necessary to keep me alive."

"You mean to say," Mollie gasped, "that they went ahead with that, knowing that it might kill you?"

"Sure. How did they know but what I'd cash in anyway? Believe me, he did the right thing. I don't mind telling you that if I had had anything to say about it he'd have operated right away—before I got my skull fractured."

It was, Prof agreed, the thing to do.

"The day that the nurse came in to tell me that Jim had opened his eyes, they were mighty doubtful about him. They told me that an operation was absolutely necessary in order to give him even a fighting chance; that he was weak and the thing might kill him; but that it was absolutely necessary.

"I told them to go ahead, and, believe me, I did some tall praying. If ever a man got religion I got it then. Dr. Lawson did the right thing, I figure that it would have been criminal not to have finished the job, as long as they were operating anyway. I'm going to write a letter to the doctor and thank him. He's a wonder.'

"Well, anyway," said Jim, "it all turned out right. I'd rathed have been dead—I'll tell you that—than alive and in the condition I was in when Prof and Mollie found me in the hospital up on Long Island."

"Jim!" cried Mollie.

"Just the same," he insisted. "I mean it."

Good Taste!

Both beauty and good taste demand that one's face powder adhere smoothly and delicately, without the necessity of constant repowdering. Lovely Mrs. Edith Earl, along with thousands of smart women everywhere, insures this by using Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream! Over it, face powder clings for hours and forms with it a dainty shield against dust and the weather, keeping the skin youthfully smooth, white and exquisite. 80,000 dealers have this pure, snowly cream in the generous 50c and 25c jars.

Mrs. Earl, who lives at 5441 Irving-st., Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I never saw anything like the way a thin film of Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream protects my complexion from sun, wind and dust and keeps my face powder on so beautifully and so lastingly!"

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Guessing the Riddle

IF experience counts for anything, I should be thoroughly insured to Dicky's odd behavior whenever his eyes light upon a young woman in whose face or figure he sees the beauty and the grace of line which he needs for some particular drawing. From the moment he sees such a type he is completely absorbed in his study of her. One would imagine that such frank, unabashed scrutiny as his always is would be offensive to the recipient. But in all the years I never have known one girl to resent it. Instead most of them generally get romantically interested in him.

But I never do get used to it. Each time that I see that speculative, appraising, admiring look come into his eyes when he meets some unusually attractive young woman, there rises within me a resentment as fierce as it is unreasoning. Vainly I remind myself that I am the wife of an artist, that I married him with my eyes wide open to his temperament—and his foibles—and that I have no right to cavil at the interest, usually innocuous, which he occasionally evinces when I introduce him to some pronounced "type" of femininity. I find that I am as absurdly angry as a young schoolgirl might be if she saw her "sweetie" frankly admiring some other girl.

Dicky's open absorbed admiration of Eleanor Lincoln, our mysterious new neighbor, brought another emotion besides the old jealous rancor which swept over me as I saw him studying her with the interested speculation so familiar to me. I felt a wondering horror that I should be capable of jealousy when my love for my husband was so nearly dead. Jealousy may be excusable when it is born of an absorbing though selfish love; but jealousy whose only mother is vanity, is a detestable thing, indeed. Was I capable of that dog-in-the-manger attitude? I asked myself, or—was it possible that my love for my husband, despite the almost unpardonable sin he had committed against our mutual faith, was not all ashes, that there still remained glowing embers capable of being fanned into flame again?

But I had no time for that absorbing occupation known as dragging out your soul and going over it with a microscope. Miss Lincoln was speaking to Noel Veritzen with an abruptness which focused the attention of all of us upon her.

"Did I understand your name to be Veritzen?" she asked.

He bowed with the touch of theatric Old World formality which is his birthright from his famous father.

"Yes, that—is my—name," he answered with a slight hesitancy which I knew arose from his realization that he had told us of his father's changing of the name from the unpronounceable foreign one which was their birthright.

She looked at him with ingenuous open admiration in her eyes which reminded me of the big velvety black pansies in my old-fashioned garden.

"I've heard you play," she said, and the tone in which she spoke was in itself a commendation, without her added frank comment. "You were wonderful. I never enjoyed anything so much in my life."

Noel Veritzen's sensitive face flushed. He would have been less than human if he had not enjoyed so naive and sincere a tribute from so beautiful a girl, but I saw that it had made him uncomfortable, nevertheless. His reply was almost awkward.

"Thank you," he said hurriedly. "I am glad you liked it. When were you at the club? I am sure I have seen you there."

"I have been thinking the same thing, Noel," Mary's fresh young voice chimed in—from the corner of my eye I had seen that Mary had been watching our new acquaintance very closely, and had missed no detail of the stranger's frank interest in Noel Veritzen. There was a little glint in her eyes which told me that in the frank fashion of the young moderns, she would wage open warfare for the possession of young Noel Veritzen's attention, even though I was sure she was in no sense of the word "in love" with him. Her voice and manner subtly took possession of the young man, ran up a signal "Hands off," perfectly understandable to any player of the most ancient game in the world. "I am positive I have seen you before, but I can't think where."

Was I mistaken, or was it a look of alarm which I saw in the lustrous depths of Eleanor Lincoln's black eyes?

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking!

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief —yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

Sweet Breath

And white teeth—premier charms

Here is the best way to keep your breath sweet, your teeth white and your morning taste delightful.

Here is everything you need for beauty and health in the mouth—all in one application.

The way is Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth paste, with oil it combines with magnesia. Some 50 great experts have collaborated to make this the greatest tooth paste men have yet created.

It removes—at once—the dingy coats which form on teeth, and restores their natural glisten. It applies antiseptics to combat germ attacks in the mouth. It embodies deodorants to purify the breath. Above all, it applies magnesia—forces it between the teeth. Not ordinary magnesia, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in concentrated form. Dentists have for 50 years advised that to their patients.

Magnesia neutralizes acids, the chief enemies of the teeth and gums. It goes wherever the acids form, and they perish at its touch. No acid can live in the presence of magnesia.

You will never go to sleep without magnesia on your teeth when you know what it means to you. Nor will you ever use it in another form when you try this matchless combination. Go today and learn how much this tooth paste means to you and yours.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT
FRENCH FLIERS

"There is no reason yet to give up hope entirely."

News that the American aviators, Lloyd Bertraud and Clarence Chamberlin, might attempt a non-stop flight from New York to Paris despite the proved dangers of the trip aroused mingled feelings.

Fear Resentment

There is sentiment in some quarters that the French people will show their resentment if the American fliers undertake the transatlantic air voyage and succeed where Nungesser and Coli failed.

It was fear of such resentment and the possibility that it might be translated into action which led American Ambassador Herrick to send his message late Tuesday warning against any attempt to make the New York-Paris flight at this time.

In the chamber of deputies a demand has been made for an official investigation into the false reports which were circulated of the arrival of Nungesser, and which it is alleged came from government sources.

Mother Holds Hope

Minister of Commerce Bokanowski declares that the government did not announce the arrival of Nungesser and declares that the 21 cannon salute which was prepared was never fired and stated that the aviator who flew over Paris signalling Nungesser's arrival in New York was acting without authorization.

Madame Nungesser, mother of the French flier, still holds hopes.

"Charles did not succumb to 17 war wounds of the Germans, and I doubt if he will be conquered by the Atlantic," she said.

VIRTUALLY ABANDON HOPE FOR RESCUE

New York, May 11—Despite careful and widespread search on both sides of the Atlantic and along the northern steamship lane by United States, Canadian, English and French warcraft, coastguard and merchant ships, no trace had been found today of Capt. Charles Nungesser, his fellow airman, Capt. Francois Coli, nor their airplane.

Bad weather and fog prevailing over the north Atlantic are hampering the greatest international quest ever undertaken for a missing aviator.

It has not been more than 75 hours since Nungesser and his companion hopped off at Paris in "The White Bird" in their attempt to make a non-stop flight to New York, but in view of unfavorable conditions and the absence of any reassuring developments hope for the missing airmen is virtually abandoned.

To Disregard Warning

Despite a cabled warning from Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, that the French people might misinterpret an attempt by American airmen to fly to Paris while Nungesser is missing, Aviators Lloyd Bertaud and Clarence Chamberlin are making preparations to hop off from Curtiss field on Saturday morning if weather conditions permit.

The Herrick warning was considered by officials of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation, builders of the Bellanca plane in which Bertaud and Chamberlin plan to fly, but they decided to disregard it.

Will Attempt Flight

"We appreciate the fine courage of Captain Nungesser and Captain Coli and we pay tribute to their bravery and skill but we feel at liberty to attempt this flight," said Charles A. Levine, president of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation. "If Captain Nungesser had succeeded we should not have attempted the flight."

Government craft which nosed slowly through the fog-bound north Atlantic in hope of discovering some trace of "The White Bird" kept up continual wireless communication with land stations throughout the night, but reported that they had picked up no trace of the missing French plane.

ment would unanimously condemn any revolutionary movement by the losers."

It is Dr. Zepeda's proposal that the United States submit a list of Latin-American government with which it would be willing to co-operate in the difficult task of supervising the Nicaraguan election, permitting the Sacasa group to select one country from the list.

Dr. Zepeda suggests that between five and 10 South American governments be listed because "the countries south of the Panama Canal are more genuinely neutral than the Central American republics which have strong sympathies one way or the other due to their nearness to Nicaragua."

Dr. Zepeda pledged that the Nicaraguan Liberal party would abide without question by the election result if it were conducted in such a manner, with the result certified to by two supervising governments.

REQUEST MUST COME FROM BOTH FACTIONS

Washington, May 11—The United States might entertain a suggestion that one of or more Latin-American countries joint in supervising the Nicaraguan elections only if such a request should be jointly made by the Sacasa and Diaz factions in Nicaragua, it was said today at the state department.

Unless the request of the Sacasa group is indorsed by the Diaz government, however, no consideration probably will be given the idea.

CALL NICARAGUANS TO LAY DOWN ARMS

Washington, May 11—A proclamation calling upon all Nicaraguans to disarm, with a threat that American marines will forcibly disarm the natives, if necessary, was issued today in Nicaragua by Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer, commanding the American forces.

The proclamation was widely distributed in native newspapers and in leaflets which were distributed throughout the country, Admiral Latimer informed the navy department.

The Revolutionists were assured by Latimer that the government has granted general amnesty to all political and armed opponents.

A reward of $10 was offered to every person who delivers a rifle or machine gun to the American forces.

DENY REPORTS OF PLOT FOR STEPHENSON ESCAPE

Michigan, City, Ind., May 11—Officials of Indiana State Penitentiary today flatly denied reports they had uncovered an escape plot through which D. C. Stephenson, former Klan dragon, hoped to get his liberty and then assassinate Gov. Ed. Jackson.

MUST DIE IN CHAIR

John Hickman and George Vargo Fates Decreed by Court

Columbus, May 11—The Ohio Supreme Court today decreed that John Hickman, Chillicothe, and George Vargo, Lake County, shall die in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary.

Hickman, together with his brother, Montrose, was convicted of murdering Officer Dan Garrett at Chillicothe. The state supreme court today rejected John Hickman's appeal from the death sentence imposed by the Ross County courts. Montrose is serving life in the penitentiary.

Vargo was found guilty by the Lake County common pleas court of killing Anna Sabo, his landlady, March 31, 1926, and was sentenced to electrocution. The appellate court reversed on the ground of error in the charge to the jury. It was claimed that Mrs. Sabo, a widow, had rejected Vargo's proposals of marriage.

The state appealed to the supreme court which reversed the action of the Lake County appellate court in Vargo's case.

IMPROVEMENT ASSESSMENTS ARE REDUCED

W. N. Crouso Granted Permanent Injunction Against County Treasurer

Assessments levied against the property of W. N. Crouso for the E. Fairground-st paving and sewer have been reduced frm $598.62 to $257.14, as the result of a permanent injunction granted yesterday by Judge Scofield of the Court of Common Pleas. A temporary injunction granetd some time ago was made permanent by the court order.

Crouso has paid the $257.14 and the remainder of the assessments will be cancelled. Crouso brought suit against the County Treasurer to stop collection, claiming that the assessments were in excess of the amount allowed by law. The roperty, a vacant lot, was valued at $550 by appraisers appointed by the court. According to law, property can not be assessed for more than one-third of its value after the cost of improvement has been added.

Answer Filed

Fred W. Smith, through his attorney, L. E. Myers, filed an answer today in the suit for $5,163 brought against him recently by John A. Kehrwecker, in which he denies all of the plaintiff's allegations and asks for dismissal of the action.

In his petition, Kehrwecker charges that he was assaulted by Smith at the Erie roundhouse on Feb. 5, alleging that Smith bit his left cheek, disfiguring him permanently.

Kehrwecker asks for $5,000 damages and $163 to cover doctor's bills and loss of time from his work. He was employed as a blacksmith at the Erie shops, he states, and was off duty three weeks as a result of his alleged injuries. He is represented by the law firm of Mouser, Young & Mouser appointed by the court.

Report Filed

J. Lewis Ellis, Forrest Ballinger and C. E. Campbell, appointed by Judge Scofield to act as arbitrators in the suit of J. Raymond Mayfield and others against Mildred B. McMurray, have filed their report with the court and arrangements are now being made for a final hearing.

The suit involves a dispute over payment for a dwelling house on Uhler-av which the contracting firm of Mayfield Brothers built for Miss McMurray. She claims that it was not completed according to contract.

Due to numerous technical details in the proceedings, Judge Scofield appointed the three arbitrators, who are familiar with building work, to investigate and report. This is one of the few cases on record here which have been submitted to arbitration.

Granted Leave to Plead

In the suit brought by the Standard Oil Co. against Edward S. Moon and others for appointment of a receiver for Moon's affairs, L. Reber, named as a party defendant, has been granted leave to plead by May 12.

Three foreclosure actions brought against Moon prior to starting of the receivership proceedings have been dismissed. The receivership action will dispose of the mortgage claims involved. The suits dismissed were brought by the Citizens' Building & Loan Co. and the Marion Savings Bank Co.

Lease Dismissed

The suit of the state of Ohio on relation of C. C. Crabbe in behalf of Ludwig Aldrich, against Seth Knoch, has been dismissed by Judge Scofield for want of prosecution. Costs are assessed against the plaintiff.

Probate Court

Minnie A. Schuler has been appointed executrix of the will of Henry A. Schuler and Daisy Craner administratrix of the estate of Lee H. Craner.

JURY TAKEN TO HOME OF SLAIN SCREEN ACTOR

"Blow-by-Blow" Account of Fatal Fight Expected in Kelly Trial

Los Angeles, May 11—The fist blows, which the prosecution contends, dealt death to Ray Raymond, were to be recounted today at the trial of Paul Kelly, film juvenile, charged with the murder of the musical comedy star.

A blow-by-blow account of the knock-down fight between Kelly and his opponent was promised by Ethel Lee, negro maid, who witnessed the death battle in the Raymond home on the night of April 15.

The only other eye-witness to the mauling, Raymond's four-year-old daughter, Valerie will not be called to testify because of her age.

Coroner Faces Grilling

County Autopsy Surgeon A. F. Wagner, who testified his examination showed that Raymond died from violence with acute alcoholism as a contributory cause faced a stiff grilling when the trial was resumed today. Dr. Wagner was undergoing a cross-examination by Defense Counsel W. I. Gilbert when court adjourned yesterday to the Raymond home in Hollywood.

The jurors—nine women and three men—Superior Judge Charles S. Burnell, and court attendants piled into motor-buses for the trip to the scene of the tragedy.

Kelly, manacled to a deputy sheriff preceded the mobile court in a police car. His return to the home which he stormed three weeks ago to "have it out" with Raymond, appeared to unnerve the big-framed youth and his hand trembled as he stooped to pat the actor's dog which greeted his arrival.

Taken to Room

Once inside the house, the jurors were led into the room where the fatal fight had taken place. The maid, standing in the doorway from where she said she watched the fists fly, explained everything in the room was just as it was at that time. She pointed out the davenport on which the two men sat to talk things over and then showed where Raymond crumpled on the floor as Kelly put on his coat and hat and hurried from the house.

Dorothy MacKaye, Raymond's widow, and admittedly the cause of the trouble between Kelly and her husband, absented herself from her home during the court visit.

Marion Has High Standing In Matter of Contributions National "Y" Worker Says

Annual Drives for Maintenance of Proposed Half-Million Dollar Structure Would Be No Larger Than at Present, E. T. Baer Declares

"Figures established in the 1927 Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout finance campaign in Marion indicate a complete success for the general organization," declared E. T. Baer, secretary of the financial service bureau of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., New York, last night, just previous to his departure for Beverly, Mass.

"The figures also indicate that Marion is up to the average and in many cases far above the average in contributions," said Mr. Baer, who has been in Marion during the last few weeks, aiding local officers of the Y. M. C. A. in preparing for the drive and helping put it over the top.

$2,000 Short

The final report of the campaign, given by solicitors Monday night, was $23,356, $2,000 short of the $25,500 goal set at the opening of the drive a week ago.

In making an analysis of the campaign returns, Mr Baer points out that although Marion fell $4,000 below the usual average in other cities in subscriptions of $500 or more, it more than made up this deficit in small amounts. Only one $1,000 subscription and one $500 subscription were received in the campaign. Usually there are at least two $1,000 signatures and seven $500 subscriptions.

Before departing from Marion, Mr. Baer discussed the cost of a new Y. M. C. A. building as proposed by the citizen of Marion who, a few days ago, pledged $100,000 for the construction of a modern building for use of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Boy Scouts. He also answered the question asked by many, "Will it not be necessary to raise much more money in annual contributions to maintain such an institution as proposed?"

Raise Less Money

"Cities the size of Marion, with buildings that have been opened since the close of the war, and that have cost from $300,000 to $600,000 are raising less money in subscriptions than Marion is now raising. "They are probably rendering twice the service for the smaller annual contributions because they have in their dormitories and other features of their plants an endowment, and because a man working with modern tools can accomplish more than one working with tools of a quarter of a century ago," Mr. Baer stated.

"The Marion 'Y' building is more more expensive to maintain than a modern building that would enable the association to more than double its service to the community. Moreover, the fees paid by men for the better accommodations and service would add materially to the income. There would be a much larger number of men using the privileges, and their membership fees should yield a balance to be applied on the cost of service to boys and girls."

Nearly Self-Supporting

"In general, in a city the size of Marion, the Y. M. C. A. operating budget is approximately $1.50 per year per capital of population. With a completely modern plant this can be made so nearly self supporting that only from 15 per cent to 20 per cent will be contributed, the 80 to 85 per cent coming in membership fees and other earned income," Mr. Baer continued.

As to the executive staff needed, the average number of men of secretarial standing employed in cities the size of Marion is six for the Y. M. C. A., with usually one Boy Scout executive. I cannot speak for the Y. W. C. A., but am under the impression that the number of women of secretarial standing should approximately equal that of the executive staff of the Y. M. C. A."

"To sum up, the people of Marion will get more and better service for their boys and girls with no larger annual contributions, and probably less than is now being contributed each year to this work," he concluded.

Mr. Baer has been engaged in "Y" work for many years and speaks from experience among various institutions in cities throughout the country.

TELEPHONE PROPERTY TRANSFERRED TO BUYER

Deal Definitely Consummated When Deed Is Filed with Recorder

Transfer of all property of the Marion County Telephone Co. to the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. in accordance with a sale agreement entered into several months ago, was definitely consummated today when the deed was filed at the county recorder's office.

At the same time the Ohio Associated company placed on file a $1,000,000 mortgage on the property as security for a 20-year bond issue of the same amount which is to be marketed as a part of the financing program.

The bond issue, together with issues of no par common and preferred stock, was given official approval of the state utilities commission recently.

The deed and mortgage cover all of the Marion County Telephone Co. property, including buildings, equipment and service lines, in Marion County and vicinity.

The National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago and Arthur J. Baer of the same city are named as trustees for the bond issue. The bonds are to be of $100, $500 and $1,000 denominations and will pay six per cent. interest.

The Ohio Associated Co. is incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware and has its main office in Chicago.

In the deed $1 is given as the nominal consideration for transfer of the property. It has been stated on reliable authority, however, that the sale price was approximately $1,225,000, stockholders of the Marion County Telephone Co. having received $136 a share for their holdings.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Eugene Gerhart, Pearl-st, Injured While Playing Ball at His Home

Running into the street to recover a ball, Eugene Gerhart, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Gerhart, Pearl-st, was struck by an automobile late yesterday afternoon, sustaining cuts about the face and head and injuries to the body. Dr. J. G. McNamara, who is attending the boy, said this morning that his condition was not so good, pneumonia having developed from the injuries. Plans were being made to take him to the hospital this afternoon for an X-ray.

No blame for the accident was attached to the driver of the car, who, according to witnesses, was driving at a moderate rate of speed and made every effort to avoid striking the child. His name was not learned, although he stopped his car and assisted in caring for the injured boy. He told several that he had just moved to this city from Bucyrus.

Mrs. Carmine Cutarelli, a neighbor, who witnessed the accident and who carried the injured lad into his home, said several children were playing ball in the Gerhart yard when the ball rolled into the street. Eugene, she said, ran into the street directly in the path of the approaching car.

Sixteen Harding Athletes Enter Delaware Meet

SPORT SAUCE

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB

FOR the first time in the history of sports in Harding High, a recreational ball league has been formed among the various classes, including the Faculty, Central Junior High and Vernon Heights.

Previous to this spring, Harding had always played inter-class baseball but had never taken part in soft ball. But, this year, with interest in hard ball lacking, Dewey Bohyer, instructor in the high school, put the question up to the boys and they unanimously decided upon soft ball.

In fact, recreational ball has taken young and old by storm in this city during the last two years, and it is expected that a Junior league will be organized immediately after summer vacation period starts for those who are now in school.

But we always find exceptions in everything. And so it is here. The Juniors and Seniors, although members of the high school recreational ball league, have also formed baseball outfits and will play each other just "for the fun of it."

LITTLE interest in tennis has been shown among high school students this season. It may be a little early for that sport but we usually see some display of energy on the part fo those who are interested a t least before May 1.

E. H. Shade, Harding High instructor, who has always previously had charge of tennis, reports that only one or two have even taken the trouble to speak to him about it. In other words, tennis wielders probably will not be prominent in local high school circles this year.

THEY'RE all picking the winners of the annual turf classic of the country, the Kentucky Derby, to be staged at Churchill Downs Saturday. Have you selected yours?

Scapa Flow was a great favorite among many of the local racing fans until that burly black colt, Bostonian, slipped in from nowhere and won the Preakness Monday. And third in line was Whiskery. Both named come from the stables of Harry Payne Whitney and are leading contenders for the Derby.

Then there are others. Glance over the following and pick and the winner: Osmond, Roo, Hydromel, Rolled Stocking, Nor'Easter, Mirafel, Osmond, Fair Star, Candy Queen and General Haldeman.

SOME time ago it was announced that county schools would not participate in any spring sports but now it develops that a number of them have organized baseball teams and one or two have become ambitious for track.

However there will be no county meets of any nature and all schools that have formed teams will play independently with other outfits in Marion or neighboring counties.

Waldo is reported to have one of the best high school baseball teams ever developed in that community.

AFTER sweeping the series with the Philadelphia Athletics in their mad rush for a place in the first division, the Cleveland Indians yesterday struck a snag in the form of the Boston Red Sox, tail-enders of the American loop.

Just when fans were getting the most disgusted with the Indians, the Cleveland crew stepped forth and helped themselves to three games at the expense of the Mackmen—and Manager McCallister holds high hopes of landing in the first section before his "at home" games close.

Even the Cincy Reds came to life a few days ago and won two in succession. But their rally was stopped by rain Sunday and they have not had suitable weather for a contest since that time.

Largest Track and Field Team Ever to Represent Local School in Tourney

Will Participate in Nine Events in District Meet; Hugh Shults, Is One of Harding's Best Bets for First Place; Others Will Also Have Chance To "Strut Their Stuff"

SIXTEEN Harding High track and field men will journey to Delaware Saturday to take part in the Central Ohio district track meet, to be held all day, starting about 9 o'clock, at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Coach Paul Sprout will accompany the track team, the largest ever sent to a district meet from Marion. The boys will participate in nine events, at least two being entered in each of the nine. Each school is allowed three in each event.

While the local lads did not make such a great showing in a few of the events of the recent inter-class track meet, they set a few nice marks in a number of the feats, and are due to place in many at the district meet.

Hugh Shults, entered in the quarter mile, is one of Harding's best bets for first place. Shults has been stepping lively on the dirt track at the fairgrounds and clip off a couple of seconds when he gets on the cinder track.

Zimmer Has Chance

Another man that has a great chance to finish in front of his opponents is Gerald Zimmer, Harding's miler and half-miler. Zimmer's chances in the mile are "plenty good" and he should easily be able to place in the half if he continues at the rate he has been traveling around the dirt oval here.

McAninch, Bader and Tuttle are the leading dash men and Ed Knight holds high hopes for a place in the pole vault.

Harding's relay team is composed of McAninch, Joe Rinnert, Ralph Hinklin and Hugh Shults. All are good individual 440 men and will make any other outfit do some tall stepping.

Columbus Central Again

Columbus Central is booked to take the meet. It will be remembered that the same school was scheduled to take the Class A high school district basketball championship. Harding trimmed the cage crew in the first game.

Central has won a few dual meets so far this season with little difficulty and, in fact, is becoming confident of the fact that it can't be beaten. We will almost vouch, after looking over previous records of the year, that it can't. The Columbus boys' last victory was scored at the Carnegie Tech meet last week, when they cleaned up almost everything in sight. Tittle, the basketball ace, has been throwing the javelin all season but will be out of the running Saturday due to an injury to his arm.

North and East are the next best bets from Columbus but Harding will stand a good chance with those two outfits. Then there are a few more from that city with Mt. Vernon, Circleville, Delaware, and other surrounding cities being represented. Competition will be plentiful and the locals will do themselves proud to place in a majority of the events.

Schedule of Events

Here is the schedule of events with each Harding High entry:

Shot put, 10 o'clock—Ed Knight and M. Jones.

Pole vault, 10 o'clock—Ed Knight and Ike Jones.

High jump, 11 o'clock—Knight, Dick McAninch and Montgomery.

LEADING WESTERN CONTENDER

The stock of Rolled Stocking, considered the leading western three-year-old contender for the Kentucky Derby, continued to soar today. He is certain of strong support Saturday. Rolled Stocking went over the mile route in 1:36 3-5 in a trial against Osmand at Churchill Downs a few days ago and delighted his many admirers.

Cobb and Simmons Return; Athletics Defeat Detroit

NEW YORK, May 11—With Ty Cobb and Al Simmons back in harness, the Philadelphia Athletics are bowling smoothly along the road to Pennantville today after a disastrous start in the west. What these two sluggers mean to Connie Mack was demonstrated in yesterday's game at Detroit. In their first appearance following their suspension, Cobb walloped a double and Simmons hit a single. Two runs came in and the A's went on to win by a score of 6 to 3, Philadelphia advancing to third place and Detroit dropping to fourth.

A roaring welcome by Detroit fans marked Cobb's return in an alien uniform to the scenes of his early triumphs. The celebration resembled a national political convention, a bargain sale and old home week all rolled into one, and Ty was presented with an automobile.

The hitting of Ruth and Gehrig enabled the Yankees to nose out the Browns, 8 to 7, and retain their two game lead. The Babe hit his seventh homer of the season, tying Gehrig, and Gehrig drove in the winning run.

Sox In Second

The White Sox jumped to second place when Tommy Thomas personally conducted the pale hose to a 4 to 3 victory over Washington. Thomas drove in three runs and pitched a neat game in the bargain.

Cleveland's winning streak was struck down in the bloom of youth when the Indians lost to the Red Sox, 6 t 5. Hal Wiltse was the winning twirler. He is the only pitcher who can win for the Sox and he is doing that little thing with great regularity.

In the only game played in the National league, the Cubs took third place away from the Phillies by trimming them 6 to 3. Homers by Hack Wilson, Hartnett and Stephenson enabled Sheriff Blake to gain the decision over Hal Carlson in a walk.

BABE FAR BEHIND PREVIOUS MARKS

New York, May 11—Although Babe Ruth has seven homers to his credit today and is tied with Lou Gehrig for major league home run honors, the king of swat is considerably behind his great 1921 records. In 192 the bambino hit his seventh homer on May 6th in the fifteenth game, while his homer yesterday came in the Yankees' twenty-fourth game of the season.

DEMPSEY WILL FIGHT PAOLINO ON JULY 9

Will Then Meet Winner of Sharkey-Maloney Bout If Successful

New York, May 11—Jack Dempsey has definitely accepted terms for a bout with Paolino Uzcudun, the basque heavyweight, here on July 9 as the first step in his comeback campaign, Promoter Tex Rickard announced today. Rickard said that the former heavyweight champion talked to him over long distance telephone and also agreed to meet the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Jim Maloney bout if he disposes of Paolino.

The Sharkey-Maloney bout will be held at the Yankee Stadium here on May 19, and Rickard plans to pit the winner against Dempsey some time in August, with a crack at Gene Tunney's title as the prize.

Rickard estimated that a bout between Dempsey and Sharkey or Maloney would mean a million dollar gate and that a return match between Dempsey and Tunney at the sesqui-centennial stadium in Philadelphia would attract a gate of two and a half millions.

BERLENBACH BACK

Former Light Heavyweight Champ To Attempt Comeback In Ring

New York, May 11—Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight champion, is going to attempt a comeback. The "Atoria Assassin," who retired from the ring after being knocked out by Mike McTigue several months ago, will start boxing today in a local gymnasium, with a bout with Tommy Loughran as his immediate objective in a campaign to regain his lost laurels. He will participate in two or three warm-up fights before taking on the Philadelphia slugger, however.

It is understod that Berlenbach's bride of six weeks, a former Los Angeles girl, urged him to renew his ring activities

Sunday School Leagues to Open Tonight; Changes in Diamonds Are Announced

Steam Shovel League To Use Company's Grounds Tonight and Two Church Games Are Switched to Central Junior and Erie Diamonds

SUNDAY School recreational ball teams will play their first scheduled league games tonight, unless unfavorable weather prevails at the hour when the contests are to be called, it was announced today. The games were to have been played last night but were called off when it was thought that a number of the diamonds would not be in shape for play.

Due to the postponement and the fact that the American League at the Marion Steam Shovel opens on the diamonds of that company tonight, a slight change in fields has been announced. The two games scheduled for the Steam Shovel grounds have been transferred to other diamonds.

Changes Tonight

The scheduled game between Epworth No. 2 and Presbyterian No. 2, which was to have been staged on Shovel diamond No. 3, will be played on the Erie field, Kenton-av, tonight. Calvary No. 2 will meet the First Reformed outfit at the Silk Mills.

Wesley M. E. was booked to meet Epworth Seniors on Steam Shovel diamond No. 2 but this game will be played on the west diamond at Central Junior High as a result of the change.

All other games will be played as scheduled.

Teams to get the balls tonight and take care of the bases are Presbyterian No. 1, Calvary No. 1, Central Christians, Wesley M. E., Lee-st Presbyterian, Presbyterian No. 2, Calvary No. 2 and Lutherans.

Diamonds were in excellent condition at noon today, and, although the weather was threatening, all chances of playing appeared to favor the teams.

HAINES EFFECTIVE

Thus far this season Haines of the St. Louis Cardinals has proved one of the most effective pitchers in the big leagues.

Strength Sapped by Overwork Rebuilt by Tanlac

Ben Romano broke under long hours and heavy work. On verge of breakdown, tried Tanlac and regained lost vitality. Praises Tanlac highly Ben Romano lives at 709 Bowery St., Akron, Ohio. A native of Birmingham, Ala., he has a host of friends in that city. While working for the Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company there, he spared no effort to succeed, putting all his strength and energy into his work. "Lugging pig iron ten hours a day takes strength and vitality," said Mr. Romano, "and in the end it got me. For three months I was played out, nervous—on the verge of a breakdown.

"My stomach and liver went back on me, and heartburn, gas and sourness kept me in constant misery. I could neither eat, sleep nor digest normally, so grew steadily weaker. Shortly before coming to Akron I started on Tanlac and have been in the pink of condition ever since. My friends would congratulate me on my improvement and I would always say that Tanlac and nothing else was responsible for the change. It certainly put an end to my troubles."

If you feel below par, try Tanlac, nature's own tonic and body builder. Made from barks, roots and herbs. Your druggist has Tanlac. Over 52 million bottles sold.—Adv.

...I had no particular theory ...for the suddenly miraculous effectiveness of Haines, Alexander, Sherdel and Rhem, the first all-star staff of pitchers to be developed anywhere in some years. He seemed to think it might be that the young men always were good, anyhow. The writer tried to make him confess that he had connived toward the success of the pitchers but the boy was modest and wouldn't take anything except a formal bow.

"What can I tell Alexander? Nothing," he said, asking and answering his own questions in order to make certain of complete agreement. "Alex is as great today as ever I saw him to be. What a break we got when the Cubs let him go. Sherdel and Haines are veterans who know everything worth knowing about pitching. Haines has developed a knuckle ball after two years of experimenting and that's what makes him the pitcher he is. Sherdel is as good as ever, which means great. Rhem is the same fast ball boy but better now because of his experience.

"They are four great pitchers who have the sure steadiness of a championship club behind them and, when you get that combination, it is hard to go wrong."

O'Farrell doesn't expect to do so. He is in front now and doesn't hesitate to say he will stay there. The contenders? He likes the Giants and Pirates for that role, doesn't take the Cubs too seriously and thinks the Reds will improve.

He bulls-eyed the last one. The Reds will improve. They couldn't be worse than they have been.

POORMAN'S BASEBALL OUTFIT TO PRACTICE

Poorman's Garage baseball team will practice at 6 o'clock, Thursday night, on the Silk Mills diamond, in preparation for their next game Sunday. All candidates are expected to report.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Cleveland—Johnny Farr, Cleveland, defeated Johnny Hill, Chicago, 12 rounds.

At Portland, Me.—Pete Lucel, Clinton, defeated Jimmy Rappaport, New York, 6 rounds.

At San Francisco—Frankie Murray, Philadelphia flyweight, decisioned Roy Wally, Malayan scrapper, in six rounds.

At Los Angeles—Doc Snell, Tacoma featherweight, won 10 round decision over Billy Grimes, Australian champion.

Faculty Team Leads High School Recreational Loop

THE Faculty now holds undisputed right to first place in the high school recreational ball league. It gained that honor last night through no effort of its own. The Sophomores gracefully bowed in defeat for the first time this season before the attack of the Seniors. As a result, the Faculty is the only team remaining undefeated.

The final score of the Soph-Senior tilt was 8 to 5. Francis on the mound, working with excellent support and backed by the heavy hitting of his teammates turned the trick for the Seniors. Kochensburger was on the receiving end. Perry and Fetter were batteries for the Sophomores.

Vernon Heights took a step forward in the league standing last night when they defeated Central Juniors, their greatest rivals, 7 to 1. Fadley and Akron were the winning batteries. Price and Zeis were batteries for Central Junior.

Vocationals were to play the Juniors of Harding High at Central Junior after school hours tonight. The Juniors were doped to win.

Brown Names Outstanding Features of Ball Season

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

The outstanding features of what has been an unusually interesting baseball season todate, are, in my opinion:

The marvelous playing of Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

The repetition of the New York Yankees whirlwind start of 1926.

The superb pitching of the Cardinal mound staff.

The utter collapse from one cause and another of the Cleveland pitching staff rated as probably the best in the league.

The slugging of Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, who led Babe Ruth in home runs for a while.

The hitting of Earl Webb, new outfielder with the Chicago Cubs.

The all around playing of the Boston Braves.

The brilliant individual playing of Dave Bancroft at short.

The brilliant playing and hitting of Eddie Farrell subbing for Travis Jackson in the Giant infield.

The general demoralization of the Cinci Reds.

The remarkable success of the White Sox under Manager Ray Schalk despite the absence of Mostil, the star centerfielder and base runner.

The individual playing of Bill Hunnefield at short for the Sox.

The temporary benching of old Eddie Collins because of his failure to hit the ball.

The improvement wrought in the Phils by Stuffy McInnis, considering the lack of playing material and effort on the part of the club to acquire new.

The miserable showing of Dazzy Vance, strikeout wizard of the National League when he wants to be.

The showing of George Moriarty to mold the batting power of the Tigers into an effective offensive.

The epidemic of injuries that has swept the Washington club, beginning with the injury to Johnson's foot early in the spring.

And the blissful serenity of things generally speaking—thanks to the maintained silence of Landis and Johnson.

Gossip Turns Toward Probable Field for East and West in Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11—With the preakness run and the majority of the horses which met in the contest on the "old hill top" at Pimlico either at the Downs or enroute for the fifty-third renewal of the Kentucky Derby Saturday, gossip today turned toward the probable field for Saturday's classic, together with the respective merits of the thoroughbreds of the East and those of the West.

Since time immemorial the two sections have waged a ceaseless battle for the premier honors of the most coveted prize on the American turf.

Rip Rap's arrival here Monday afternoon caused a stir in the Derby colony, and Max Hirsch, trainer of the Sage stables candidate, let it be known his horse is as fit as human hands can make him. In company with Frilette Rip Rap went a half in 52 3-5, breezing.

Candy Queen came out of the Derby trial in such poor physical condition that she will not be a starter, her trainer, G. Walker said. She is owned by H. Teller Archbald and the Chicagoan likely will have no starter in the race.

Hydromel, Senator J. N. Camden's eligible, is a doubtful starter, according to his trainer, as a result of his poor showing Monday. The stock of Rolled Stocking considered the leading western 3-year-old continues to soar, and he is certain of strong support Saturday.

Here's Real Relief From the Torturing Pains of Neuritis

Men and Women Everywhere Seldom Fail To Get Quick Relief from Pain and Suffering

When you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve those piercing agonizing pains, just go to some good druggist and get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2 which comes in capsure form.

Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished those persisting nerve racking pains that have caused you many sleepless nights.

While this particular formula was compounded for the purpose of conquering painful Gouty conditions and what is known as Rheumatoid Arthritis—a knotty, painful swelling of the joints—it has proven wonderfully successful in most forms of Neuritis and Sciatic Nerve Pains.

You needn't be afraid of its containing dope of any kind—it doesn't. Such things are only makeshifts and can at the best give only partial relief.

Be sure you've got Neuritis and then get Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Bradley's Drug Store sells lots of it.

GAS COMPANY REJECTS PLAN OF ELYRIA MAN

Prospects of Settlement in Rate Controversy Receive Another Setback

Prospects of settlemen of the gas rate controversy between Marion and other Ohio cities and the Logan Gas Co., under terms recently proposed by City Solicitor Myers of Elyria, received another setback today when the company announced that it would not agree to the terms.

The first obstacle to th Myers plan developed several days ago when it was disapproved in a statement made by Grant E. Mouser, Jr. former Marion solicitor who is representing this city in the controversy.

Myers advocated a compromise which would fix a rate of 55 cents per thousand feet of gas during a two-year period and a tentative 60-cent rate for an additional two years. The 60 cent proposal would hinge upon decision of voters in the various cities. Myers proposed that members of present councils agree to enter into the 60-cent increase in case they are re-elected. The voters would then express their sentiments by either defeating or re-electing the councilmen on this issue.

Yesterday it was announced at Elyria that the plan is unacceptable to the Logan Gas Co. According to the news report from there, the company is willing to agree to a rate of $1 for the first 500 feet of gas and 50 cents a thousand thereafter for a two year period.

This proposition, if accepted, would force small consumers to pay more than they are being charged at the present time, Solicitor Myers stated, indicating that he would not agree to the terms.

STATE SOLONS PASS INSURANCE TAX MEASURE

Myers Bill Authorizing Increase of Gross Premiums Ready for Governor

Columbus, May 11—By a vote of 20 to 6 the Ohio Senate today concurred in the action of the house in passing the Myers Bill increasing the state excise tax on gross premiums of foreign insurance companies from 2½ to 3 per cent. The bill goes to the governor.

The senate today passed the Lewis Budget Bill over Vic Donahey's veto, by a vote of 29 to 5. The bill, which goes to the house, authorizes the governor to order heads of state departments to keep expenditures within appropriations made by the state legislature.

The senate recessed shortly before noon and the Republican senators went into caucus at the request of Sen C. C. Bolton, Cleveland, Republican floor leader.

It was understood that the caucus was for the purpose of determining whether the legislature should adjourn sine die, or arrange for a recess, and, also, to decide what action, if any, should be taken relative to the governor's request for confirmation of his appointment of Attorney Chalmers Parker, Columbus, Republican, to a six year term as a member of the state utilities commission, succeeding Frank E. Maullar, Republican, Chillicothe.

Some Republican senators, it was understood, urged that the legislature provide for an extended recess in order to prevent the governor from carrying out his threat to call the solons back in special session if they fail to pass the Chappelear Herbert elections reform bill, and to thwart any plans the governor might have to designate Parker as a "recess" appointee, if the legislators adjourned sine die.

House Republicans participated in an extended caucus this forenoon. It was reported that they were considering what action should be taken by the house on the question of concurring in the action of the senate in passing measures over the governor's veto.

Holding separate morning sessions, the senate and house this morning resumed their efforts to put through a financial program designed to wipe out the deficit in the state treasury.

Under suspension of rules, the following measures, also, were introduced in the house late Tuesday and passed both the house and the senate:

Pass Measures

The Dodd Bill, providing for a direct state tax levy of 1-10 of one mill, based upon the 1927 tax duplicate, to pay the general expenses of state government. Vote: In house, 108 to 5; in senate, 21 to 14.

The Norton Bill, amending the Norton Highway Recodification Act, by providing that the governor may remove at will the state highway director, requiring the use of prison made brick on the highways, and increasing the authority of the state highway director in grade crossing eliminations. Vote: In house, 108 to 3; in senate, 27 to 5.

The Jones Bill, providing for an adjustment of the tax rate of a taxing district situated partly in two, or more counties, and defining the fiscal officer in townships as the township clerk. Vote. In house, 92 to 2; in senate 28 to 4.

Lefever Bill

Reconsidering the vote by which it defeated the Lefever Bill, empowering the state utilities commission, with the approval of the governor, to appoint attorney-examiners and to employ and discharge its own employes, the house, by a vote of 82 to 11, passed the measure. Having passed the senate, the bill now goes to the governor.

Agreeing to the request of the house that it recede from its amendment to the Sullivan Bill, providing for increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon, the senate sent the bill to a joint conference committee for further action. The senate amendment to which both the senate and house had previously agreed, but later rescinded their action, provided for a 50 per cent reduction in the annual state license fee for pleasure autos.

The house, by a vote of 57 to 35, Tuesday night, defeated the Forney Bill, introduced under suspension of the rules, which provided for an annual tax of $500 to be levied upon wholesale dealers in cigarets and for placing an annual tax of $50 a year upon retail dealers.

Miss Mark Slightly

Falling three votes short of the 82 affirmative votes required, the house, by a vote of 79 to 40, failed to pass over Governor Donahey's veto, the Ott Bill, which sought to increase the salaries of state supreme, appellate and common pleas court judges.

The senate passed over the governor's veto, by a vote of 26 to 4, the Tom Bill, providing for abandonment, for canal purposes, of part of the Miami and Erie Canal in Lucas County, and, by a vote of 33 to 2, the Gillen-Burnett Bill, transferring control of the state schools for blind and the deaf from the state welfare department to the state department of education. Both bills go to the house on a question of concurrence in the senate's action in overriding the governor's veto.

Reconfirming Governor Donahey's appointment of Elbert H. Blair, Columbus, as state banking superintendent, the senate, by the respective votes of 12 to 20 and 9 yeas to 20 nays, refused to confirm the governor's selections of Walter D. McKinney, Columbus, as a Republican member of the state utilities commission for a six year term, and of Dr. L. C. Siemon, Columbus, as a member of the state medical board.

AMAZING WORK IN KONJOLA TOLD BY AN INDIANA LADY

"This Medicine Has Been A Blessing in Our Home" She States.

"I will gladly tell anyone about Konjola, this medicine has been a blessing in our home. It ended my neuritis suffering and just recently my 12 year old son began taking it, and it has cleared up a case of stomach trouble that he had been suffering for 11 months."

MRS. HARVEY HILL AND SON

This statement was made by Mrs. Harvey Hill, 1015 East Maryland St., Indianapolis, Indiana, in a report given to the Konjola Man who is now in this city at The Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sams), 121 South Main St, Marion, where he is personally explaining this surprising new medical compound to large crowds daily.

"For two years," said Mrs. Hill, "the pains of neuritis were a great source of misery. My head would rack with pain, the leaders in my neck and shoulders seemed to pull and draw, and finally my left arm was practically useless. I was just a bundle of nerves and had to lie down and rest two or three hours daily. I lost about 15 pounds and was very weak.

"I got Konjola and it made a big change in me the first few days. I took four bottles and my neuritis is entirely gone. There is not a single ache or pain anywhere in my body. For a whole month I have been completely well and my troubles never returned. My nerves are stronger and I feel good in general.

"In the case of my son, this new Konjola started his food digesting right for the first time in 15 months. He never has sick headaches or cramping spells like he complained of before, and everybody says he is the picture of health. We are very grateful to Konjola and everyone in our home is recommending it to others who are in need of such a medicine."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sams), 121 South Main St, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Adv.

MARKET IS FLOODED WITH INVESTMENT FUNDS

$48,000,000 of Five Per Cent Corporation Bonds Oversubscribed During Session

MARKETS AT A GLANCE:

Railroad stocks, strong; industrials, steady; domestic bonds, firm; foreign bonds, steady; call money 4½ per cent; grain, reactionary; copper, steady; oil, weak; cotton, reactionary; rubber, steady; sugar, steady; pig iron, steady; foreign exchange, firm.

New York, May 11— The financial market received additional evidence of the abundance of investment funds today, in the prompt over-subscription of an issue of $48,000,000 of 5 per cent. corporation bonds, simultaneously with the purchasing by syndicate bankers of $60,000,000 New York City gold stock and serial bonds at less than a 4 per cent yield.

The Chesapeake corporation financing was related directly to the distribution of the Van Sweringen brothers' holdings of Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad common stock, and is expected to pave the way for approval of the Nickel Plate merger of important railroads into a new eastern trunk line, for the first time since 1909, the city of New York was able to borrow below 4 per cent, and this was taken to establish an important milestone in high grade bond yields.

Outside of the merger railroad stocks and a few of the prominent industrials and specialties, there were no movements of importance in the speculative stock market. Marked strength was in evidence in the steel stocks, though the weekly reviews of the steel trade emphasized the decline in the sales and production of steel. Steel making operations at Pittsburgh and vicinity were reported at 75 per cent of capacity, against 80 per cent two weeks ago and 90 per cent in April.

Stock of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad (Nickel Plate), sold up about 6 points at 171½ in the early trading, furnishing the sole feature of the rail list. The other Nickel Plate stocks were inactive, and the volume of sales of investment rails fell off considerably.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

A quiet market with no marked change in prices, was reported from local markets today. An advance of four and five cents for strawberries was the only change announced. A better quality rather than a shortage in supply is given by dealers as the cause of the increase. Tennessee berries of a good quality are now being quoted at 23 and 25 cents. A poorer quality sold as low as 15 cents yesterday.

Green vegetables are becoming more plentiful as conditions in Mississippi continue to return to normal and with shipping facilities becoming better. No change in prices are quoted however.

Melons are scheduled to appear on local market in about two weeks. Movement of watermelons from Georgia and cantaloup from southern California have started this way and now are appearing on city markets, but because of the high price will not be seen on local markets for a few weeks.

Committees Are Named to Arrange Dairy Day Program To Be Observed on June 15

One of Features Will Be Presentation of Prize Bull to Some Farmer To Be Named Later; Scheduled as Promotion Project

Committees to have charge of arrangements for a "dairy day" program to be held in Marion County on June 15, one of the features of which will be formal pres enttatonof IhgS1 cmm be formal presentation of a prize bull to some farmer who will be named later, were appointed at a meeting held last night at the office of Banks Collings, temporary county farm agent, on Mill-st.

Roland L. Leeper executive secretary of the Marion County Agricultural Society, was selected as general chairman of the committees. The meeting was attended by representatives of the Marion County Holstein Association, which is planning the dairy day event.

Purpose of Program

The purpose of the program, which is expected to attract a large gathering of farmers from all parts of the county, is to promote the breeding of a higher class of dairy cattle. It is a direct result of the "bull special" run over the Erie railroad several months ago through Northwestern Ohio with Marion as one of the principal stops. The train was operated by the Erie in conjunction with the O. S. U. College of Agriculture.

A high grade bull was offered to the county which registered the largest attendance of farmers on the route of the special train and Marion County won. This is the bull which will be presented to some farmer of the county on dairy day. A plan for using it for breeding purposes in connection with the dairy stock improvement program will be announced later.

List of Committees

Committees named at last night's meeting are listed below:

Program—R. W. Sachman, M. M. Roger, H. H. Berringer and Milton Behner.

Advertising and publicity—Charles Isaly, W. H. Holverstott, Warren Ross, R. F. Fletcher and A. R. Tennis.

Arrangements—H. H. Berringer, Leo J. Cusick and G. E. Augenstine.

Bull trial—W. T. Owens and F. M. Fairchild.

The last named committee is to have charge of what is expected to be one of the most entertaining features of the program. A scrub bull completely lacking any signs of breeding or class, will be selected by the committee for a mock trial, which will culminate in a death sentence. Prominent farmers and local attorneys are expected to take part in the trial.

L. L. Rummel, field editor of the Ohio Farmer, a well-known agricultural publication, is assisting in plans for the trial. He was present at last night's meeting.

Agent Present

W. H. Palmer, agricultural agent of the Erie railroad with headquarters in Jamestown, N. Y., was also present.

The scrub bull and the high grade bull awarded to Marion County will be placed side by side before the assemblage in order that the comparison may impress the farmers with the importance's of improving their stock.

Presentation of the prize bull will be made by H. H. Miller, president of the Ohio Holstein Association.

The dairy day program will take place in the city of Marion or on a farm nearby, according to plans now under way. A definite announcement will be made within a few days, County Agent Collings stated today.

Harding High Student Printers Turn Out Exceptionally Attractive Shop Booklet

CONVINCING evidence of the value of work being done in the vocational training branch of the Marion schools is found in the "Vocational X-ray," an exceptionally attractive and interesting 16-page booklet which was turned out by students in the Harding High printing department for distribution during the annual shop night demonstration last Friday night.

The booklet, which was produced entirely by boys of the printing school, is a work of art throughout, comparing favorably with similar products of shops employing expert craftsmen with years of experience.

Show Ingenuity

One feature of the publication especially indicates that resourcefulness and genius are not lacking among the Harding High printing force. A picture of the high school building, outlined in black and white, was printed on the front cover page from an engraving designed from a strip of linoleum. The linoleum was glued to a block of wood and upon this surface was drawn the design which was cut out with a pocket knife.

Articles by several of the students, L. H. Rusker, coordinator of the vocational department, R. A. Todd, printing instructor and letters from officials of local industrial concerns commending the vocational training work, appear on the various pages.

Well Illustrated

The booklet is illustrated with a double page spread of pictures of local manufacturing plants and a full page photograph of J. H. Mason, superintendent of schools.

It is planned to issue the "Vocational X-Ray" and distribute copies each year on the annual shop night. On this occasion the public is invited to visit the vocational training department and witness its operations.
